GIBLIN IN FIGHT FELLS EDITOR

MAGUIRE VICTIM OF ATTACK

JAMES E. MAGUIRE, East Boston editor and attorney who was severely injured today in fist encounter with Representative Giblin.

Representative "Tom" Giblin of East Boston and Attorney "Jim" Maguire, editor of the East Boston Free Press—political enemies—met in Breed square, near the Orient Heights station, today and this is what happened almost within the count of ten:

Heated argument.

Giblin hits Maguire in the jaw.

Maguire falls to the street.

Patrolman Edward Sprague stands near by.

Crowd gathers quickly.

Maguire is found to be unconscious and is hurried home in a passing automobile.

Giblin walks off calmly.

Later Dr. Ernest Booth was hastily called to the Maguire home at No. 41 Colling street, East Boston. There he revived the still unconscious lawyer, took several stitches in a gash in his scalp and treated several scratches on his face and bruises on the attorney's body. It was said Maguire was not seriously hurt.

About the same time Patrolman Sprague entered the East Boston court house and secured a summons for Giblin, charging him with assault and battery on Maguire and ordering him to appear in the East Boston District Court tonight. Tuesday the police then began a search for Giblin.

Just what happened before Giblin landed the blow on Maguire's jaw was told by onlookers in Breed square. Giblin, who was defeated for re-election to the House at the polls on Tuesday, was standing in the square. Soon Maguire approached on his way to take a car to his office in Boston. Giblin walked towards him. For a few steps the two men proceeded together. Patrolman Sprague stepped in their direction. Quick by Giblin struck. Bystanders declared this was the only blow which passed.

What the two men had talked about—Giblin having spoken in a rather loud voice—remained something of a mystery. Sprague, the policeman, did not verify a report that he overheard a part of the quarrel. It was supposed that Giblin had resented editorials printed in Maguire's paper, the East Boston Free Press. Maguire had opposed Giblin in the latter's campaign for the House. The two men have been political opponents for the past two years.

Giblin is about six feet in height and weighs around 250 pounds. Maguire is about five feet eight inches in height and weighs about 160.

Giblin was sought by his friends when they learned of the fistic encounter. They were unable to locate him. At Maguire's home it was said the attorney, who, like Giblin, is one of the most prominent figures politically in the Noddle Island district, would probably be able to leave his bed in a few days.

Representative Giblin is one of the best known politicians in Boston. He was formerly a member of the Boston fire department, leaving that service to become a real estate broker and builder. For saving a number of lives in and about the East Boston waterfront, Giblin has been presented with numerous medals. He is a member of the Chevaland Club and of the Orient Heights Yacht Club.

Giblin was a member of the old board

French Banks Worry Over Income Tax

PARIS, Nov. 6.—Some of the French banks are in a quandary over the question of how the new income tax law of the United States should be interpreted. They hold some $5,000,000 of coupons of American securities, which have been already cashed or discounted, and the doubt has arisen whether the French banks may not lose the per cent. of income tax to be collected in the place of origin.

No Tax on Income from State Debts

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Commissioner of Internal Revenue Osborne today ruled that interest upon obligations of the United States or its possessions, or of any state, county, city or any other political sub-division is not subject to the income tax.

Engineer Hurt in Train Crash at Wakefield

Passenger train 100, due from Lawrence at the North Station at 6 o'clock today on the Western Division, ran into a string of freight and sand cars in the Wakefield yard, demolishing one sand car and knocking a freight car from the tracks.

But one injury was reported, Engineer E. A. Foster of the Lawrence train receiving a wrenched shoulder. He was taken to his home.

Traffic from all points north of Wakefield was held up for over an hour. Reading, Lawrence, Haverhill and commuters between these stations were cut off from Boston until one line had been cleared.

Wife Dead from Joy at Husband's Vote

YONKERS, N. Y., Nov. 6.—Kept alive for days by her intense interest in the campaign of her husband, who was running for re-election as Mayor of Yonkers, Mrs. James T. Lennon died today. Mrs. Lennon prayed daily for her husband's election, and so great was her joy in his victory that her heart failed under the strain.

The Easy Way to Own Real Estate

A great many people have found it and so can you. They have watched for their chance—the real estate bargain, the opportunity to acquire property at an unusual price. Why not watch for your opportunity to secure a piece of city or country real estate at a price you can pay?

DICTATOR SEEKS TO BLOCK U.S.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—It is reported in diplomatic circles this evening that General Huerta of Mexico will appeal to the international court of arbitration at The Hague to mediate the difficulties between the Mexican and United States governments.

Huerta is believed to be on the point of asking The Hague tribunal to prevent any contemplated armed intervention in Mexico on the ground that it would be death to the Mexican republic. Mexico is a signatory to The Hague compact, which was signed when the international court was organized.

The French Foreign Office today denied that France had been asked by Mexico to mediate the controversy between that country and the United States.

DEFIANT TO WILSON DEMAND, HUERTA TO REMAIN AT PALACE

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 6.—Angered by the recent pressure from Washington to compel his resignation, General Huerta told his Cabinet today that he had decided to remain in the National Palace in spite of any threats or demonstrations by the United States.

That the Mexican situation has been further complicated by President Wilson's demand for Huerta's resignation and that plans for a peaceful solution of the problem have been, at least for a time, frustrated is apparent.

General Huerta has not formally rejected President Wilson's demands, nor has he communicated with Nelson O'Shaughnessy, American charge d'affaires, on the subject up to noon today.

DANIELS ORDERS BATTLESHIP FLEET TO STAY AT VERA CRUZ

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—"The Louisians, Michigan, New Hampshire and California will remain in Mexican waters for the present."

This order was issued by the Secretary of the Navy Daniels today, following a conference with Secretary Bryan.

This was the reply to a request from Rear Admiral Fletcher, commanding the second and third divisions of the Atlantic fleet at Vera Cruz, for directions as to whether the ships named should make preparations for returning home.

The naval demonstration to be used by this government to emphasize its demand that Huerta eliminate himself as dictator of Mexico will enhance the largest number of American warships gathered in foreign waters for other than purely pacific purposes since the Spanish war.

Outside Vera Cruz there will assemble eight battleships, two cruisers and a gunboat, and on the Pacific ports of Mexico there will anchor three armored cruisers, one gunboat and a supply ship—a total of sixteen ships of war.

FIVE WARSHIPS WAIT ORDERS TO SAIL AT LEAGUE ISLAND YARD

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6.—"Stand by for orders," is the rule at League Island Navy Yard. With the armored scout cruiser Chester already under sailing orders for Vera Cruz, Mexico, and four men-of-war ready to get up steam at an hour's notice, everything at League Island is at fever heat.

Since the receipt of the Chester's orders yesterday a steady stream of coal has continued to pour into her bunkers, without a minutes cessation. Nine hundred tons were stowed away during the day and night and the rest of the 1,500 tons needed are being put in today. The Chester will be ready to sail at daybreak tomorrow morning. By dawn the Chester's magazine was full supply of torpedoes.

PLOT TO HOLD UP WALSH

Plans to prevent the inauguration of David I. Walsh as Governor unless Democrats in the Legislature agree to the election of a Republican Speaker of the House, and President of the Senate, were today formulated at a secret meeting of Republican leaders in the Kimball Building.

Under the State Constitution, the inauguration of the Governor cannot take place until the Legislature is fully organized. Neither Republicans nor Democrats have a majority in the House, but the Republicans have a working majority in the Senate. The proposition which the Republican leaders informally decided today to put up to the Democratic leaders is this:

"We have a working majority in the Senate. We can delay the organization of the Senate as long as we want to. We organize both branches of the Legislature or we don't organize the Senate."

The Republican State Machine will not insist on the re-election of Speaker Cushing, according to the plans outlined today. It will sacrifice Cushing, if necessary, and support some other Republican more suitable to the Democrats and to the Progressives.

According to the latest returns 111 Republicans were elected to the House, 108 Democrats, 17 Progressives, 1 Socialist and 3 Independents. The Republicans have 22 of the 40 members of the Senate.

Mercury Girl Who Blamed Suitor Dead

ST. JOHNSBURY, Vt., Nov. 6.—Cora Towne, the girl who took bichloride of mercury tablets which she said were given her by Fred Flynn, a chauffeur, died today. Flynn is in jail charged with murder. An autopsy and preliminary hearing will be held tomorrow.

The girl declared Flynn was jealous of her affection for another man and that he forced her to take the bichloride tablets. She accused Flynn to his face

Daniel J. O'Reilly Dies in New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Former Assistant District Attorney Daniel J O'Reilly, who gained fame in the Nan Patterson case and the Thaw trial, died today of dropsy complicated with other ailments. O'Reilly had been ill since he was released some time ago from Blackwell Island, where he served a term of five months for receiving $8,000 worth of stolen securities.

Walsh Off for Ten Days' Rest in Hills

Execute Seven at Cannons' Muzzle

ALLAHABAD, India, Nov. 6.—Seven ringleaders in a plot to assassinate the Amir of Afghanistan were executed today by being tied to the muzzles of cannon, which were then fired. The heads of the prisoners were jammed into the bore of the guns.

Miss Clark Seeks Jessie Wilson's Gift

Speaker's Daughter to Buy Silver as House's Present.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Miss Genevieve Clark, daughter of Champ Clark, is in New York to select the wedding present of the House of Representatives for Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson.

"I think I shall select silver," she said today. "Some of the Congressmen thought jewelry would be better, but I do not believe so, although I have a certain respect for Congressmen in some matters. I am going to make the House decide, though. I shall select several things and submit them to the Congressmen." Miss Clark began her shopping tour today.

Attack Comparison of 'L' Men's Wages

Official Admits Using but One Readville Shop in Figures.

John P. Feeney, representing the union, cross-examined Charles H. Hile, chief of the maintenance department of the Boston Elevated Railway, for four hours at today's arbitration hearing in Ford Hall.

Mr. Feeney read queries from a volume, "The New Industrial Day."

Cross-examined on the figures he yesterday submitted comparing the wages of Elevated shopmen to the wages of the shopmen in the New Haven shops at Readville, Mr. Hile admitted that he had used only one Readville shop as a basis for comparison. Mr. Feeney claimed that in that shop the wage standard was the lowest paid at Readville, and claimed that the lowest wage paid any of the 300 regular locomotive machinists was above the average wage paid the Elevated machinists.

Harvard to Hear Zululand Prince

Prince Mandikane Cele of Zululand, Africa, is scheduled to speak to the Harvard students, Monday evening on conditions in his native country. He is the first royal prince to speak at Harvard Union since the visit of Prince Henry of Prussia. Prince Cele has interested President Lowell and other Harvard alumni in a project to build up in Central Africa an institution similar to Hampton Institute at Old Point Comfort.

Liner Encountered Sand Storm on Trip

The German freight steamer Kandelfels, which arrived in port today two days late from Calcutta and Colombo, reported various kinds of storms, even to a sand storm. The sand storm visited the ship in the Strait of Gibraltar, where a hurricane blowing from the African sands drove everybody below decks and deposited tons of sand on the vessel.

Tener Not Out for Big League Office

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 6.—Governor Tener, commenting on the report that he is to be elected president of the National League, said today he was surprised to hear his name used in connection with the office. "I am in no sense a candidate," said he. "Hence it would be foolish for me to discuss the matter."

M. Fred O'Connell Asks for Recount

FITCHBURG, Nov. 6.—M. Fred O'Connell, Democrat, defeated by Calvin D. Paige, Republican, in the third district Congressional fight, has filed a petition for a recount. Paige had a 340 lead over O'Connell.

EVELYN DISGUISES HERSELF, ALARMED AT DEATH THREATS

MONTREAL, Nov. 6.—Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, who is playing at a theatre here, is so alarmed at letters threatening her with death, and is so worried for fear baby Russell Thaw will be kidnaped, that she has disguised herself as a char-woman to enter and leave the theatre where she is playing.

Man Killed When Auto Turns Turtle in Rhode Island

WOONSOCKET, R. I., Nov. 6.—Frederick Stewart, thirty-eight, of Central Falls, was instantly killed today, and James P. Morse, of Pawtucket, seriously hurt, when Morse's runabout turned turtle on Cumberland road.

How the accident happened is not known. A watchman hearing groans ran to the machine and found the two men underneath. Stewart had been instantly killed. Morse will recover.

W. F. McCombs to Wed Miss Williams

Democratic National Chairman Marries in London Tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—William F. McCombs, of New York, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and probably the next ambassador to France, will be married at the American Embassy in London tomorrow to Miss Dorothy Williams of Washington, D. C. Word of the approaching ceremony reached here today through friends of the bride.

Miss Williams left Washington a month ago in company with her brother-in-law, Joseph Leiter, and her sister, on board the yacht which the Leiters have chartered for a cruise around the world.

It is understood that the honeymoon of Mr. and Mrs. McCombs will be spent on this yacht.

Identify Body in Peabody Fire Ruins

Search Fails to Reveal Two Others Reported Lost.

The body taken from the ruins of a dwelling burned to the ground in Peabody last night was today identified as that of George Buchanan of Western avenue, Lynn. The body had been promptly identified as that of Walter Shaw of Lynn, son of the owner of the building.

It was reported that another man and a woman were missing in the fire. Search of the ruins today failed to reveal other bodies than that of Buchanan.

Boy Adventurers Back on Cunarder

Eleven whalemen from New Bedford vessels arrived in Boston today from Liverpool on the Cunarder Franconia. Seven were from the bark Wanderer and four from the schooner Arthur W. Z. Woodruff. Six of the Wanderer's men were youngsters gathered in New England cities and who made the voyage for adventures. They deserted the vessel in the Canary Islands. The others were all left in the hospital there.

The full list of members of the Citizens' Municipal League, never before published, will be found on Page 4 of today's AMERICAN. They are picking out a man for Mayor of Boston.

THAW'S WIFE HAUNTED BY DEATH THREATS IN MYSTERIOUS LETTERS

Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw has been forced to enter and leave the Montreal Theatre where she is playing in disguise and has surrounded herself with a police guard as a result of letters she received here and in Montreal threatening her with death. It became known today.

The Montreal police are endeavoring to trace the author of the letters and a Boston detective agency is also at work on the case.

FEARS FOR SAFETY OF BABY.

Mrs. Thaw is much alarmed at the threats, especially for the sake of baby Russell, whom she keeps constantly at her side. She is so alarmed that she refuses to leave or enter and leaves the theatre undisguised, and after one performance, came out dressed as a charwoman, with the baby under her shawl.

The threatening letters have been turned over to the Montreal police. Mrs. Thaw herself, it is understood, has engaged the Boston Detective Agency.

Of the letters received by Mrs. Thaw, one was written by an apparently illiterate person. The handwriting was femininine. It was firm, however, and indicated that the writer was a young woman or a girl.

Another letter was written in a fine penciling hand, and was more lengthy. The spelling and the use of words indicated that the writer was well educated. Both letters threatened Mrs. Thaw with death.

Joked Over Letters.

They came to her, it was stated today, while she was staying at the Hotel Lenox in Boston. She paid little attention to them at the time, and joked over them. But some happening, the nature of which is kept secret, has made her regard them in a more serious light.

Shortly after she reached Montreal, it is known that she received two more letters threatening death, and written in a different hand from either of the first two. The news of the letters reached the other members of the company.

The guard over Evelyn is maintained to guard clothes and valuables, which have been disappearing in an unaccountable manner, during performances nightly both members of the company and employes of the theatre being suspected. Detectives are on the stage door, and the alleyway guarded by police, and a strict watch is kept over all visitors.

Question Suspects.

Several people have been questioned by the police, after being "picked up" about the theatre or hotel. Thus far no arrest

ROB DAUGHTER-IN-LAW OF FOSS IN BIG STORE

Governor Foss' daughter-in-law, Mrs. Benjamin Stoddard Eddy, was robbed of her handbag containing about $6 in change, and worth $100 itself, in a downtown department store, it became known today.

Mrs. Foss, who lives at No. 7 Lake ville street, Jamaica Plain, and whose husband is secretary of the B. F. Sturtevant Company, was inspecting some imported garments in the store, and laid her handbag on the counter. Somebody took it while she was busy.

Mrs. Everett Wilmot Vetter of Newton Centre was robbed of her handbag in the same store and in the same manner.

A girl giving the name of Miss Helen Walsh was arrested charged with taking Mrs. Varney's bag and the police believe she may be able to shed some light on Mrs. Foss' loss. The woman was arrested in a Washington street theatre, whither she was followed from the store where the thefts occurred. She was followed by Mrs. Ethel Lagerstrom and Mrs. Ida Hall, store detectives, who ask in court today that the took Mrs. Varney's bag be withheld until she can be identified and summoned and complaints of the thefts entered.

The girl was held in $500 bail for the grand jury.

President Accepts Stray Black Cat

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—President Wilson has adopted a stray black cat. It wandered into the breakfast room of the White House and jumped upon the President's lap.

WIRELESS PIONEER PREECE DEAD.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Sir William Henry Preece, pioneer of wireless telegraphy, died here today, aged seventy-nine.

FIVE HELD FOR HIGHWAY ROBBERY.

Charles Riley, Luke Mahoney, Frank Ryan, John Harvard and Sigmund Muscovitch of South Boston were arraigned in court today, charged with holding up and robbing Peter Makkos of No. 89 Silver street, South Boston. They were each held in $500 for the grand jury.

has been made, although five men and two women have been taken to the police station and examined. All, it is said, were able to convince the police they knew nothing of letters and had no knowledge of any plan to attack Mrs. Thaw.

Mrs. Thaw reports to a new nurse every performance, to reach the theatre unnoticed. After she goes disguised, or comes out with members of the chorus and walks off as one of them. Often still, she hurries out after her performance, and comes out with the audience—a veil drawn down to her chin to hide her features.

At every performance an automobile waits to take her to her hotel. Sometimes, if there are no loiterers around, she steps into this machine and is whisked away. At other times the automobile is left standing as a blind while Mrs. Thaw leaves by some other entrance to the theatre.

Two taxicabs filled with police accompany Mrs. Thaw's automobile to and from the theatre.

FELKER TO DECIDE FATE OF THAW SATURDAY; NEW PAPERS FROM JEROME

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 6.—"I will positively announce my decision as to Harry K. Thaw's extradition next Saturday morning," Governor Felker said today, for the first time making known the exact date on which he would decide Thaw's fate.

"I will come to Concord Friday to attend a meeting of my Executive Council," he continued, "and will stay at the capital over night. From my office in the State House Saturday morning I will render my decision."

When asked what the nature of his decision would be, Governor Felker smiled enigmatically.

"That remains to be seen," he replied. "This is the last day left for W. T. Jerome, Thaw's Nemesis, to file papers in the case.

"Mr. Jerome will file no additional briefs," stated Bernard L. Jacobs, Jerome's New Hampshire representative, today. "But there is a possibility that he may file some papers in the case before nightfall."

Thaw showed no trace of nervousness when he arose at the Eagle Hotel this morning. On the contrary, he appeared calm, confident and cheerful.

"I shall win," was all he had to say.

MURRAY PUTS DEFEAT UP TO DISTRICT CHIEF

David W. Murray of Hyde Park, who was defeated as Democratic candidate for the Senate from the First Norfolk District, at a meeting of the Democratic Committee of Ward 26 charged Dr. Joseph M. Keegan, chairman of the district committee, with causing his defeat at the polls.

"Last year," said Murray, "I lost the fight for representative by twenty-two votes. This year in the battle for the senatorship, I lost by 200 votes.

"And Keegan was responsible in both cases. He forced me into this last campaign much against my will, and, once I was in, with the purpose of annihilating me politically, he left me absolutely in the lurch without the slightest support.

"Either Keegan gets out or there will be an independent organization formed to determine the course of Ward 26 in the mayoralty fight. I will select my own candidate for mayor," concluded Mr. Murray.

In the voting Tuesday, Mr. Murray ran 300 ahead of his ticket in Hyde Park. Besides favoring the annexation of Hyde Park, he worked for the purification of the Neponset River and for the five-cent fare to Hyde Park.

Bryce Is Dined by Ambassador Page

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Walter H. Page, the United States Ambassador, gave a luncheon today in honor of Professor James Bryce, formerly British Ambassador at Washington. The staff of the American Embassy and a number of distinguished British and foreign diplomats were among the guests.

of aldermen in 1909, serving one term. He was elected to the House last Fall and in this year's primaries he won a re-nomination only to lose Tuesday's election to Thomas J. Niland, who ran as an independent.

Maguire is a lawyer with offices in the Kimball Building. William C. Maguire, his brother, is also an attorney. James E. is president of the Citizens' Trade Association of East Boston and is editor of the East Boston Free Press, which has printed numerous editorials lately denouncing "mud slinging" in campaigns.

Once Attacked Bottomly.

Two years ago—on November 11, 1911—Giblin assaulted Robert J. Bottomley, in an encounter in front of City Hall. Bottomley was secretary of the Good Government Association. The association had denounced Giblin's aldermanic candidacy.

The fight in which Giblin figured Monday night was at the rally in the Chapman School in East Boston. Giblin charged Niland with attempting his (Giblin's) life by shooting a year ago. This brought Niland to his feet in the audience. Niland hurried towards the platform. In the crush of supporters of the two men, Giblin fell forward in a dead faint.

Thomas R. Kelley, presiding officer at the rally, was pushed from the platform. Giblin was accused of doing the pushing, and Kelley called on the police to remove the Representative from the rostrum.

In April of last year the police ended a free-for-all fight between Representative Giblin and former Representative Bernard F. Hanrahan at a "town meeting" in the East Boston High School. Standing toe to toe on the platform the two men aimed blow after blow at each other. When a truce was finally declared, both men showed signs of the struggle.

As one result of this battle in the schoolhouse, Giblin later sued former President William F. McClellan of the Democratic City Committee for $10,000, alleging McClellan had violently assaulted him at the "town meeting."

Fear 99-Year-Old Wooer Will Elope

Regardless of the fact that the relatives of Everett G. Power, the ninety-nine-year-old Crimean war veteran and great grandfather, are opposed to his marriage to Mrs. Annie L. Hart, a forty-seven-year-old widow and grandmother, of Charlestown, and have had the license to marry held up, it was said today that the couple would possibly elope and be married at some Peoria Green near Boston.

Another rumor has it that Maurice W. Power, son of the veteran, would apply today to the Probate Court for the appointment of a guardian for his father.

Mrs. Hart said "We have not given up the idea of being married as yet."

The registrar of marriages held up the license yesterday when the couple applied for it, at the request of Mr. Power's relatives. When Mrs. Hart heard of this she withdrew her side of the application.

Mr. Fewar is still working.

Cut Off Aigrettes with U. S. Scissors

Mrs. John J. Glover of Kansas City had a beautiful aigrette on her hat when she landed from the Franconia today. But the customs men spied it, and their scissors appeared.

"Good, good," cried Mr. Glover, who was with his wife. "I'm glad they're doing it. I told you so."

But Mrs. Glover wept. A woman in the second cabin also saw some feathers taken from her bonnet.

The Franconia was a day late, with 1541 passengers. There were three days of forty-foot waves, during the passage. The passengers included Mrs. F. Gordon Dexter, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Dixon of London (Mr. Dixon is president of the Mother Church of Christ, Scientist), Dr. R. H. Makgill, health officer at Auckland, N. Z.; C. F. Needham, an English M. P., who says he hopes the United States keeps Mrs. Pankhurst here; Dr. J. A. Morgan and his wife, who have been honeymooning since August; and Lady Carter, wife of Sir Gilbert Carter.

Lady Carter was Gertrude Codman Parker of Boston, and brought here for burial the body of her mother, Mrs. Mary Codman Parker, who died October 23 at Sir Gilbert Carter's home at Torquay. Mrs. Elizabeth Cabot, her aunt, was with Lady Carter.

Croker Believes Murphy Should Quit

DUBLIN, Nov. 6.—Richard Croker, former leader of Tammany Hall, commenting on the New York election to the AMERICAN correspondent, said:

"Mitchel is a good man and will make an excellent Mayor. I know him well and his family. He is a grandson of John Mitchel, the famous Irish patriot.

"I cannot say what caused the defeat of Tammany, but it seems to me it was more to the contraght on Murphy, both from his own party and from outside. As to whether Murphy should be called upon to resign I cannot say, but it seems like it."

BIG MEETING TO PROTEST ABUSE OF THE INSANE

A mass meeting is to be held in Faneuil Hall Sunday afternoon from 2 until 6 o'clock to protest against the treatment of patients in the Massachusetts State Hospitals for the Insane. The call for the meeting was sent out today.

A committee of nurses, whose revelations of cruelties led to the present investigation of the Worcester State Hospital, accuses the State Insanity Board of "apparent reluctance" in conducting the Worcester inquiry. The Worcester investigation was resumed at 11 o'clock today in that city.

The committee, which is headed by Miss Bessie Lukanoff, one of the protesting nurses, has sent out the following letter:

"A meeting to protest against the abuses in our State Insane Hospitals has been called for Sunday, November 9, 1913, between the hours of 2 and 6 p. m. This meeting is called by the nurses signing the petition to the Board of Health, Lunacy and Charity. Many of the nurses and attendants will be in attendance and you can tell the public of Boston just what conditions obtain in these institutions.

"Especial attention will be paid not only to the Worcester State Hospital; other institutions as well will be exposed.

"On account of the apparent reluctance of the board to investigate, we will have to take our case to the people.

"We are confident that the citizens of Massachusetts do not want their insane treated in this barbarous and inhuman manner, and we take this method of calling the attention of the public to this matter.

Hunt for Missing Quincy Schoolboy

Vernal Johnson, a fifteen-year-old schoolboy living at No. 33 Massachusetts avenue, Quincy, disappeared yesterday noon. When he went away he wore a blue suit, short trousers, a blue hat and had on a soft shirt with soft collar. He is light complexioned and weighs about a hundred pounds.

How to Cure Rheumatism
Prominent Doctor's Best Prescription Easily Mixed at Home.

This simple and harmless formula has worked wonders for all who have tried it, quickly relieving chronic and acute rheumatism and backache. "From your druggist get one ounce of Toris compound (in original sealed package) and one ounce of syrup of Sarsaparilla compound. Take these two ingredients home and put them in a half pint of good whiskey. Shake the bottle and take a tablespoonful before each meal and at bed-time. Good results come after the first few doses. If your druggist does not have Toris compound in stock he will get it for you in a few hours from his wholesale house. Don't be influenced to take a patent medicine instead of this. Insist on having the genuine Toris compound in the original, one-ounce sealed, yellow package. This was published here last winter and hundreds of the worst cases were cured by it in a short time. Published by the Globe Pharmaceutical Laboratories of Chicago.

MISS EMERSON IS WOUNDED IN SUFFRAGE RIOT

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Zelie Emerson, the American suffragette, who has allied herself with the British militants, is under the care of a member of the home office medical staff today as the result of a beating which she received at the hands of the police last night during a riot at Bow Baths in the East End.

Miss Emerson is charged with interference with the duty of an officer of the law. Miss Emerson led a squad of militants against the police who were trying to arrest Sylvia Pankhurst, and in the fighting which followed many were bruised.

Mystery in Death of Roxbury Boy

Mystery surrounds the death today of John Lynch, seventeen, whose body was found at the bottom of the elevator well at No. 246 Summer street. He was employed by the Clark Manufacturing Company at the same address. He lived at No. 121 Shirley street, Roxbury. The medical examiner has been notified.

REGIONAL BANK STOCK OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The Senate banking and currency committee today by a vote of 7 to 5 adopted an amendment to the pending currency bill providing that the stock of the federal reserve banks shall be offered to the public for a period of sixty days, and that the banks shall underwrite the subscriptions and take whatever amount the public does not purchase. The resolution also provides that the banks shall name four directors and the government five directors on each regional reserve bank.

This gives the government control of the entire system, the Glass-Owen bill providing that the banks shall name six of the nine directors.

President Wilson today decided that the currency situation could be allowed to drag no longer. In conference with Senator Simmons he gave orders to that effect, and it is believed that a party caucus will be called just as soon as the Senate Committee on banking and currency shows that it is definitely opposed to the main features of the Glass-Owen measure.

Mackay Sails for Home With Children

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The Olympic is carrying to New York Clarence H. Mackay and his little son and daughter, the Servian Prince and Princess Alexis Karageorgevitch, Sir Robert and Lady Hadfield, Duke De Maiyo Durazzo, W. A. Pinkerton, Senator Lodge and Mrs. Willard Saulsbury, Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt and Wells Durrant.

SERIOUS CATARRH YIELDS TO HYOMEI

Do not let this serious disease extend along the delicate mucous membrane, gradually going from the nose to the throat, thence into the bronchial tubes and downward into the lungs.

There is no other treatment for catarrh that is like Hyomei or just as good. None can take its place, none give such quick, effective and sure relief and at so little cost—furthermore your money will be returned if you are not satisfied.

Begin using Hyomei now—today—and see how quickly the drippings into the throat, the discharge from the nose, sniffling and all other symptoms of catarrh are overcome and remember—no stomach drugging—you breathe it. The complete outfit, containing inhaler and bottle of liquid, costs but $1.00. Extra bottles of liquid, if later needed, 50 cents.

MRS. WAKEFIELD IS LOCKED IN DEATH CELL

Suffragists Oppose Move to Prevent Death of Woman on the Gallows.

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Nov. 6.—Mrs. Bessie J. Wakefield of Bristol, sentenced to be hanged for the murder of her husband, was taken to the State Prison in Wethersfield at 6:33 a. m. today.

The removal of Mrs. Wakefield to the prison came as a surprise because the law gives the jailers twenty days in which to remove prisoners under sentence of capital punishment to the State Prison, where they are executed.

The trip of Mrs. Wakefield to Wethersfield was secretly planned, for in order to avoid the crowds or any demonstration which it was feared might cause annoyance to the woman or her keepers.

She was aroused early from her night's rest, which was broken by frequent spells of crying. A closed carriage was in waiting, and after breakfasting she was accompanied to the station by Sheriff Mc Enerny and Mrs. Bassernan, the jail matron. At the station the matron said goodbye.

Sheriff McEnerny accompanied the woman to the prison. The ultimate for her incarceration there and the death warrant were taken by the sheriff, having been completed late yesterday. Before going Mrs. Wakefield expressed her thanks to Jailer Hugo for his kind treatment, and said she was sorry to leave the jail for new quarters and new surroundings.

Scarcely anyone recognized the prisoner at the station and her departure on the 6:35 train was without special incident.

James Plew, accomplice of Mrs. Wakefield, also sentenced to death, and Joseph Bergeron, who was sentenced to die on February 4, still remain at the jail here.

Comes to Investigate.

Mrs. William J. Blickenderfer of Stamford, who interested herself in the case of Mrs. Mary Rogers, who died December 8, 1905, on the gallows at Windsor, Vt., is expected her today to investigate the case of Mrs. Bessie Wakefield, who is sentenced to be hanged March 4, for the murder of her husband.

Through the efforts of Mrs. Blickenderfer a reprieve of four months was granted Mary Rogers. She had prepared herself for the gallows. Commutation of her sentence was refused later and she was hanged.

Mrs. Frank Webster, mother of Mrs. Bessie J. Wakefield, today poured out her soul's anguish in a pathetic interview given to a reporter for the AMERICAN at Middlebury.

"If there is anything I can do to save my daughter from the gallows, tell me?" urged the aged mother. "I am praying, and my trust in God is absolute. I am penniless. Is there no road to my girl's liberation but the golden one?"

The Webster home, whence Bessie Webster fled seven years ago to marry the pleasure-loving farmer, William O. Wakefield, is a low, dilapidated house, tucked in between two small hills at the western end of Lake Quonnasapong.

Children Do not Know.

In the Webster home now with the stricken mother of the condemned woman, lives Mrs. Wakefield's two children, George A., a townbended, serious minded six-year-old, and Clara Bell, four years old, a child of most singular beauty.

"Don't Hang Her!" Aged Mother Begs Governor

MIDDLEBURY, Ct., Nov. 6.—Governor Baldwin received today from Mrs. Frank Webster, mother of Mrs. Wakefield, the following plea for mercy:

"To His Excellency, the Governor:

"I am praying as I write that God will direct you to save my daughter from death.

"The law is harsh and cruel. We have no money, no influence, no hope but that which God gives all His children.

"Do not hang her. Let us work the penalty out. I am old now, and my children do not need me.

"Let me come to New Haven and live in the prison with my girl. Together we shall work to pay the State what Bessie owes."

They do not understand that the shadow of the gallows has blinded their mother. "Mother has gone to the city to buy ribbons for Clara Bell's Sunday dress," explained George. And Clara Bell nodded in approval.

"I am the mother of eleven children," said Mrs. Webster today. "All of them grow up here alike—wild and healthy, with the woods and hills their only home. Bessie was strong, lithe and fearless. Once she knocked a boy down with a club because he insulted her. She was fifteen then, and she ripped her petticoats to make bandages for his head.

"Fate, love and fortune alike defy analysis. From Chicopee Falls came William Wakefield, a man twice as old as Bessie. She was but seventeen. They ran away from Poughkeepsie. I heard that they were married. From then on life for her was tempestuous.

"He spent everything he could earn on clothes and pleasures. Often he left her penniless. But she was still proud and strong. She would not quit. Aside from that I know little about her life with William Wakefield. How James Plew came into her life I know nothing, except what I heard at the trial.

Gave Way to Pity.

"At the trial I was at first filled with anger against my girl. Then anger gave way to pity.

"What shall I tell little Clara Bell and George on the terrible day?"

Suffragists are opposing the movement on foot to get a pardon for the condemned woman. Mrs. Carlos French Stoddard, a State leader for suffrage, said:

"While I know little of the Wakefield case, I would not hesitate to say that as long as a woman has been convicted of first degree murder, she should be hanged.

"The law says that is the penalty, and because she is a woman is no reason why the penalty should not be inflicted. I believe we must maintain the law, and I cannot see how any sex discrimination could be shown."

Tango Taboo Now in Manchester, N. H.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Nov. 6.—There will be no more tango dancing in Manchester. If there is, those who persist will be arrested and brought into court charged with disorderly conduct, and if necessary both hall owners and participants will be arrested. Chief of Police Healy yesterday served warning and filed a petition asking for an ordinance requiring that applications for assemblies be filed in writing.

Dr. Hoyt to Wed Old Schoolmate

Miss Mabel Lillian Teele and Dr. William Hayes Hoyt, both of Somerville, will be married tonight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Teele, No. 23 Wallace street, Somerville, parents of the bride-to-be. Dr. Hoyt graduated from Somerville High in 1905. In the same class was Miss Teele, who two years later graduated from the Northfield Bible School.

REVEAL SECRET LIST OF MUNICIPAL LEAGUE

The secret list of members of the Citizens' Municipal League—the league which will name the "outfit" candidate for Mayor—is published by the AMERICAN today.

The league's nomination will be the fruit of a great deal of talk and planning. First, there was a committee appointed by former Secretary of State Richard Olney, which recommended four names for Mayor. These four names were referred to the executive committee of the league. It was in the executive committee, it is stated, that a series of clever moves sent Congressman Peters out of the fight and put Thomas J. Kenny, president of the City Council, to the front as the league's probable official candidate to be named tonight.

Kenny, presumably, will have the endorsement of all the three hundred or so members of the league. Nevertheless, Congressman Peters had a signed endorsement from one member. It is declared. Along with Kenny, James M. Curley will make the race for Mayor and Earnest E. Smith and John R. Murphy and John A. Keliher, and W. T. A. Fitzgerald, and maybe Mayor Fitzgerald —and maybe more besides.

Anyway, here's the secret membership roll of the Citizens' Municipal League:

The Secret List.

Here are the names of the members of the Citizens' Municipal League. The AMERICAN is the first paper to publish them.

Learned Real Value of Black Foxes

Maine Man Thought He Was Well Paid—Then Woke Up.

RANGELEY, Nov. 6.—Fred Lamb of Dallas is learning a thing or two about black and silver gray foxes, and says the next time one gets into his traps—he'll know it.

A month ago he caught a black fox, killed it in the trap, and then was amazed when someone gave him $300 for the pelt and told him that he could have had more had the fox been alive.

So when Lamb caught a silver gray, he carefully saved it alive, and sold it to Willis Hanscom of Stratton, a barber, for $500.

Lamb was satisfied till he learned Hanscom sold the fox to a New Yorker for $1,700 for breeding purposes.

GIVES BLOOD TO SAVE LIFE OF HIS CHUM

Joseph A. Stratton of No. 54 West Newton street, lies at the City Hospital today bravely fighting against death, with the chances favoring his complete recovery.

If he lives it will be due to the sacrifice of his friend, Daniel H. Higgins of No. 105 Huntington avenue who gave a quart of his blood.

The transfusion was performed by Dr. Edward B. Nicols, assisted by Dr. Leahy. Both Stratton and Higgins were etherized and stretched out side by side on the operating table for nearly an hour and a half.

Higgins, when seen at his home today, was reclining on a couch recuperating. Both men are nurses, Stratton working at the City Hospital up to last Wednesday night, when he suddenly became exhausted. He was placed in bed and failed rapidly.

WILSON FAVORS CAUCUS TO SAVE CURRENCY BILL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—President Wilson today decided that the currency situation could be allowed to drag no longer. In conference with Senator Simmons he gave orders to that effect, and it is believed that a party caucus will be called just as soon as the Senate Committee on banking and currency shows that it is definitely opposed to the main features of the Glass-Owen measure.

"There is no reason to expect that the Democrats on the floor of the Senate will support a bill which a majority of the Democrats on the Banking and Currency Committee refused to support," said Senator Simmons, after leaving the White House, pointing out that the bill now is being remodeled radically by a combination of a minority of Democrats on the committee and the Republican members.

Senator Simmons took word back to the Senate from President Wilson that he was in favor of calling a caucus as a resort to save the Glass-Owen measure.

"FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE A BLESSING TO EVERY HOME--IT CURED MY CHILDREN"

"I send my children's pictures to you, hoping their experience will be of benefit to other little ones suffering from bronchitis. I have tried a great many remedies but none as good as Father John's. It is a blessing to every home." (Signed) Mrs. Theo. Dupis, 7 Mill St., Troy, N. Y.

When the children have a cold or cough or when they need a tonic, mothers should be careful never to give them anything containing alcohol or dangerous drugs. Because it does not contain these drugs or alcohol in any form, Father John's Medicine is a safe medicine to give the children. Thousands of mothers use it in their homes right along. It has a history of 50 years of success in the treatment of coughs, colds and throat and lung troubles, as well as a tonic and body builder. The ingredients of Father John's Medicine are pure and wholesome food for those who are weak and run down. It is not a patent medicine but a doctor's prescription. Get a bottle today.

EVELYN'S LOVE STORY

"What the dickens!"—Merry Wives of Windsor.

CHAPTER LXIV.

Whether he deliberately meant to, or not, Jerome surely threw a bomb when he hinted that someone else might be involved with Harry in the murder of White.

The circumstances of Jerome's utterance were these: Thaw's counsel had asked the courts to stop Jerome and Garvan from quizzing any more witnesses who might be called at the Thaw trial.

Justice MacLean of the Supreme Court, passed on the motion and referred it, with an adverse comment, to Recorder Goff of General Sessions. The lawyers for and against the idea gathered before the Recorder. John B. Gleason, of the Thaw camp, had first say, as he had made the original request. He declared that Harry's constitutional rights were being violated by the supressing and examining of witnesses under John Doe proceedings.

Hints at an Accessory.

Jerome replied in part as follows:

The Doe proceedings before the Grand Jury may have been for the purpose of finding an indictment against other persons implicated as accessories with Thaw in the murder of Stanford White.

The Grand Jury has a right to find superseding indictments against a defendant, an indictment against others connected with the same crime and to call witnesses for that purpose.

There is no fiction in this case. From my own knowledge of the case I am not so sure there isn't another person who could be coupled with Harry K. Thaw on an indictment for murder in the first degree.

Under the law, a person who aids or abets, advises or counsels another in crime, whether present or not, is a principal.

It does not appear from what source Thaw got the revolver with which he killed White.

It does not appear whether words had been spoken to him, urging him to commit the murder.

It does not appear that the Grand Jury is not continuing an investigation toward finding indictments against others than the prisoner in the Tombs.

How would counsel here know for what purpose these subpoenas have been issued? To come into court and ask to restrain the District Attorney in these matters is a preposterous proposition.

Jerome's words made a profound impression. Stripped of its formal dress, Jerome's statement was as good as saying that the manner in which Harry got his revolver remained to be shown; also that the question whether Harry had been urged by anyone to shoot White was still open.

There was also a lively tilt between Gleason and Jerome over this examination of witnesses. Justice MacLean, who heard Gleason's objection first, had issued an order preventing Jerome, for the time being, from keeping up the John Doe performances.

Jerome said that Judge MacLean's temporary order had greatly embarrassed the District Attorney. Thereupon Gleason leaped to his feet and said:

I hope it has and I hope it may continue to embarrass the District Attorney from taking in secret evidence that may send my client to the electric chair. Forty-three depositions have been taken already in this case against the constitutional rights of the defendant.

Jerome jumped up and retorted that none of the depositions could be used at the trial and that Gleason knew it. Gleason replied:

That is true, but these depositions are taken to entangle the consciences of the witnesses and to frighten them when they appear at the trial."

Jerome then answered:

Anticipates the Defence.

None of the forty-three witnesses examined by the District Attorney is to be called by the prosecution at the trial of Harry K. Thaw, but their evidence has been taken in anticipation that the defence would call them and to prevent their consciences being entangled by the defence.

WE TAKE THESE STATEMENTS SO THAT THE CONSCIENCE OF THE WITNESS IS NOT FOR SALE TO THE HIGHEST BIDDER. WE DO IT IN ANTICIPATION.

After the hearing Jerome was immediately asked by the reporters if he was referring to Evelyn in his previous hints at an accomplice.

"I didn't mention her name, did I?" he retorted. Then he said his remarks were merely made to illustrate the absurdity, as he viewed it, of Gleason's efforts to have these examinations stopped.

But the city buzzed with interest when Jerome's words were published. Reporters sought Harry's lawyers, to see how they took it. A. Russell Peabody said:

Mrs. Thaw had nothing to do with the buying of that revolver, or any other revolver.

Called Hint at Evelyn.

Peabody was asked if he took Jerome's language as a hint at Evelyn. He replied:

Certainly. That is the only logical and natural conclusion to draw from his language. But we have fully investigated the matter of the purchase of the revolver that Thaw used. That point is closed and all cleared up.

Mr. Thaw was worried at first when he heard of Jerome's talk, but he is now convinced that the facts would not warrant the indictment of Mrs. Thaw or of anybody else.

Clifford W. Harrington, Thaw's chief counsel, also said:

It is not important where Mr. Thaw obtained the weapon, however much the District Attorney may regard it as an essential point. We know, perhaps, and it remains for the District Attorney to find out.

If the District Attorney was going to indict anybody else in the Thaw case, where has he been resting all this time since the shooting occurred without having the indictment made? Then Evelyn was asked what she thought about Jerome's statements. The reply quoted of her was brief but snappy, as follows:

Harry has consented to my saying just one word to all these new stories. That word is "Rubbish." I am not worried about being indicted.

She Darkened Her Gray Hair

A Kansas City Lady Darkened Her Gray Hair and Stimulated Its Growth by a Simple Home Process.

She Tells How She Did It.

A well-known resident of Kansas City, Mo., who darkened her gray hair by a simple home process, made the following statement: "Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray or faded hair, stimulate its growth and make it soft and glossy with this simple recipe, which they can mix at home. To half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, 1 small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ oz. of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently, then every two weeks. This mixture relieves scalp troubles and is excellent for dandruff and falling hair. It does not stain the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look 10 to 20 years younger." —Adv.

MOVE TO MAKE COMPLETE ROUT OF TAMMANY

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—New York's revolt against Tammany and the overthrow of that organization at the polls was followed today by the formation of plans to make the rout complete.

Leaders of the independent faction of the Democratic party, who have been mobilizing militia against the regular organization since the Baltimore convention, have agreed that the best way to depose Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, and prevent his return to power in this city and State, is to attack the district leaders, and thus remove the agency of widespread and powerful Tammany influence.

But Tammany is going to fight for its life, and is going to fight hard. Leaders of Tammany who believe that organization is the essence of good politics, charge that "The Raid" and Murphy have been maligned by political enemies.

Plans are under way for a conference of Independent Democrats for the purpose of reforming the party along the lines of the new democracy as represented by President Wilson.

It will be the first of the year, after the newly elected municipal and State machinery is in operation before the battle will be launched. While Mayor-elect John Purroy Mitchel, District Attorney Whitman and the balance of the municipal officials are fighting the Tammany organization in this city, William Sulzer, the impeached Governor who was elected to the Assembly on the Progressive ticket, is expected to lead the fight at Albany.

LONDON FEARS A CRISIS IN THE STOCK MARKET

By Special Cable from Our Financial Correspondent

W. R. LAWSON.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Recent predictions in the AMERICAN that a grave crisis was threatening are already being amply justified. Not only is universal stagnation becoming more acute this week, but a sense of danger is in the air.

Nothing like the present situation has been felt since the Argentine crisis in 1890.

The stock markets are gradually breaking down, and even ordinary business is becoming impossible.

Large purchases of Mexicans, Brazilians and shipping shares, which years ago were very active, today are deadlocked. Despite the decline it is impossible even in them or to take up stock on their books.

The Daily Telegraph describes the plight of the National Railways of Mexico as a castigate, the enormous record of such a disaster ever having happened to a great railway system. It is understood that the board is arranging for large issues of new bonds and preferred stock to rehabilitate the property, which is ruinstored.

Publicity is Withheld.

The American market here feels surprised and aggrieved at the persistent silence of the issuing houses responsible for National Railway securities. Since the crisis began they have given no information about it, publicly or privately.

More hopeful views about President Wilson's policy are being taken. Huerta having proved himself impossible, opinion here will cordially support energetic action against him.

The Asquith Cabinet is thought to have compromised itself by personal relations with the Pearson Oil group. This, coupled with the British Ambassador's absence from Washington during recent critical events, is generally deplored in business circles.

Monetary Position Bad.

The monetary position is quite an difficult as that of the stock markets. Saturday's return from New York arrived here very inopportunely on the morning of the coupon settlement. Firm carryover rates were expected, but the New York return stiffened them still further. Bulls had to pay 3½ per cent. on consols which yield only 3¼ per cent. The whole gilt-edge market had a bad setback as a consequence.

Sir Edward Holden seized this opportunity to give a fresh warning about our inadequate gold reserves. He said last night he advocated the substitution of gold for the £38,000,000 of government securities now in the issue department. Joint stock banks, he asserted, are gradually increasing their own gold reserves, and it is, therefore, time for the Chancellor of the Exchequer and the Bank of England to do their respective shares.

S. O. S. Call Saves Boston Yachtsmen

Tug Comes to Rescue of Party in Gulf of Mexico.

At least six Boston men, it developed today, were among the thirty-two rescued from the steam yacht Wakita when her S. O. S. calls were answered by a tug in the Gulf of Mexico. The yacht went ashore near Pass in a storm.

James Smith Kerstead, who was assistant engineer on the Wakita, lives at No. 23 Taft street, Dorchester. His wife and sister have received no word from him, but they were informed by the Galveston Board of Trade that all hands had been saved.

Charles Ganong of No. 241 Beaufort street, Dorchester, an engineer officer, was aboard the yacht, and another Boston man who was on the vessel was William Yandell, a cousin of Mr. Ganong, who has a brother living at No. 98 Hewlett street, Roslindale.

Irish Music at Tremont Temple

Lovers of Irish music will have an opportunity to hear their favorite songs interpreted by famous singers of this sort of melody at Tremont Temple tonight. Michael J. Dwyer, former Assistant District Attorney and the ever popular tenor singer, will be one of the leading singers. Miss Evelyn Parnell, the grand opera singer, who is said to have the most perfect coloratura soprano voice on the opera stage today, will be associated with Mr. Dwyer. Professor John A. O'Shea will preside at the organ and the piano, and Miss Phyllis Hammond will render harp selections.

Call Out Troops to Prevent Lynching

FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 6.—State troops were called out by Governor McCreery to guard the jail at Somerset, Ky., today and prevent the lynching of Bob Garrett, a negro charged with attempting to attack a white woman.

URGE CHEAPER RATES FOR BAY STATE MILKMEN

"A quart of milk is equal to a pound of steak, but you could not make the public pay that price for it."

This was the declaration today of John P. Bowditch, president of the Massachusetts Dairy Association, at a meeting of the milk producers, milk distributors and milk consumers, called by the committee of agriculture of the Chamber of Commerce. The subject of the meeting was to consider means to bring about the appreciation of the consumer of the value of New England milk and the fact that it has a greater value for the money than any other food.

William Grindstein, a Boston milk contractor, said: "There isn't power enough in the State to solve the milk problem in Massachusetts because the big interests do not want it so.

"Who wants the inspection of farms? The big interests don't want to pay for it. They want the State to pay for it. Inspection today is as good as it ever will be. Massachusetts farmers should have a chance to bring milk into Boston as cheap as it can be brought in from Canada."

Argue for New Marsh Trial.

If the Supreme Judicial Court in Salem concurs with the attorneys for William A. Dyer, in their appeal on his conviction in the Marsh murder case, that the crime was not in Essex County, as jury found, but was in Suffolk County, a new trial would follow.

TROOPS OUT IN STRIKE AT INDIANAPOLIS

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 6.—All State troops were called out today by Governor Ralston for duty in the street car strike here.

In making the announcement of the orders the secretary to Governor Ralston requested the newspapers not to issue extras nor to treat the news in a sensational manner because of its possible inflammatory effort upon the strikers, who are in a desperate mood.

By late afternoon it was learned that the city would be full of armed troops. Guards will be stationed about the street corners and patrols will be in the street night and day until the trouble is ended.

The calling of the soldiers was in response to demands by business interests, which claim that trade has been paralyzed by the strike and that energetic methods are imperative at once.

Attorney Milton Clawson in behalf of labor officials today delivered a formal protest to Governor Ralston against calling out State troops. The gist of the protest was that it was not the Governor's duty to call on State troops until the city police force and the county sheriff had reached the limit of their resources.

Glenn Collins Must Answer to Forgery

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Arrangements were made today to send Captain Glenn Collins, former British Army officer and former husband of Natalie Schoenk Laimbeer of New York, back to Baltimore to answer a charge of forgery. Captain Collins was arrested here after he had been entertained by members of the Investment Bankers Association at their national convention as a representative of a large London banking house. A cablegram from London stated that he was not connected with the banking house.

WILL DROP SUIT ON NEW HAVEN BOND SCHEME

Following a conference in Hartford, Ct., of Chairman Howard Elliott of the New Haven Railroad with ex-Governor Morgan G. Bulkeley, president of the Aetna Life Insurance Company, it was announced that the Massachusetts suit brought by Bulkeley to enjoin he issuance of $67,000,000 debenture bonds, will be withdrawn.

It is said that the Bulkeley party decided to discontinue any action that might embarrass the new administration of the railroad and, perhaps, precipitate a receivership or the humiliation of seeking short loans from bankers.

It was believed that as a result of the conference between Elliott and Bulkeley now plans have been formulated relative to financing the road.

Barry on Trail of Election Gamblers

Also Calls for a State Finance Commission.

Speaking of plans for the future, Lieutenant-Governor-elect Barry said today:

"One of the first things I shall endeavor to do is to get a bill through which would reach and punish those unscrupulous scoundrels who make money by gambling on alleged sure things during election.

"Another thing I will advocate is the creation of a State Finance Commission. This commission I firmly believe to be an absolute necessity and the sooner it is created the better."

"Fine," Roosevelt Says of Election

BUENOS AYRES, Nov. 6.—One of the first things asked for by Colonel Roosevelt when he landed here from the cruiser Uruguay, aboard which he made the trip from Montevideo, was the result of the New York elections. "Fine, fine! I am so glad!" he exclaimed when he heard the news.

First Vote in 25 Years.

NORTHAMPTON, Nov. 6.—Charles Angell of West Farms cast his first vote for twenty-five years this year, and saw his first street car.

Auto News

The M-B-M Motor Company has received a Wagonlab truck from Detroit that Samuel E. Campbell is going to drive from Maine to California. This will be the first time that a three-wheeled power vehicle has ever been driven across the continent.

Mr. Campbell expects to start for the coast around the first of December and will have the car in Boston during this month. This car will be especially equipped and is now on exhibition in the M-B-M Motor Company's showrooms at No. 1118 Boylston street.

The receivers of the Pope Manufacturing Company have notified Manager Fred Lucas, of the Pope-Hartford Company of Boston, that pending the reorganization of the company's affairs the factory will produce a substantial number of 40-horsepower, four-cylinder automobiles with left-hand drive, centre control and otherwise fully equipped.

The formal announcement of this car with specifications, prices and body styles will be announced in a few days. "It is confidently hoped that with the reorganization of the company's affairs it will be in better shape than ever to carry out its original plans," adds the receiver.

The United Electric Light Company of Springfield, Mass., have during the past two years made very extensive additions to their transportation fleet. All of the larger machines are of the well-known G. V. truck type. Two two-ton wagons and two five-ton trucks equipped with electric winches for drawing in cables and hoisting poles are among the noticeable machines. These vehicles are equipped with all the latest and modern appliances which go to make up a modern construction fleet.

Asks Law Against Husbands Who Run Away from Home

LA CROSSE, Wis., Nov. 6.—Mrs. Catherine L. Van Wyck, president of the State conference on charities and corrections, argued for a federal fugitive husband law similar in operation to the Mann white slave law.

She would have the national government pursue the runaway husband and send him to the federal penitentiary. She said practically every tramp was a runaway husband.

Pear-Shape to Be Woman's New Figure

Autumn Styles Fix Gowns Tight at Feet and Full at Shoulders.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The Fall costumes, decreed for women by European style makers, will cause those who obey orders to resemble inverted, elongated pears. Coats and gowns will fit tightly at the ankles and very loosely at the shoulders; an immense muff will be carried, to add to the broadening effect of the upper portion of the correct costume, and a large fur boa will encircle the neck and drape the shoulders gracefully.

No single material will be sufficient for the making of a gown. Several fabrics of various harmonizing shades must go into the construction of the fashionable frock. The brighter the colors used the more fashionable the creation.

Public Service Renewed by Pope

ROME, Nov. 6.—Pope Pius has attended public service for the first time since his illness in April last. Cardinal Vincenzo Vannutelli celebrated a requiem mass on the anniversary of the death of Leo XIII. in the Sistine chapel. Pope Pius was apparently not fatigued by the service, which lasted an hour.

Grenfell Lectures on Work in North

Stereopticon views of work in the frozen North, showing well-known Boston people at work, were shown at the lecture by Dr. Wilfred Grenfell of work being done at his Labrador settlements.

From doubt and delay in choosing a perfect home at a fair rental follows the reading of next Sunday's AMERICAN Apartment Ads.

WIFE TESTIFIES HUSBAND WORE HER CLOTHING

Mrs. Florence A. Reed of Waverly, in fighting her divorced husband, Samuel Victor Reed, an accountant, for the possession of their four-year-old daughter, declared to Judge Keating, before whom she is also seeking alimony, that Reed not only mistreated her, but threatened to kill the child who is now in her possession. Judge Keating will announce his decision later.

"He even took away from me underwear that my mother gave me and wore it," Mrs. Reed said. "He also got hold of a bank that was given the baby at a Christmas party, shook the coins out of it and later, returned home under the influence of liquor."

Mrs. Reed testified that Reed had choked her and threatened to kill her, and that once he drew a knife on her. She denied writing a number of letters introduced by Reed's counsel, purporting to have been written by her to him after they were divorced. She alleged that he had in the past copied her handwriting and that he was able to do it perfectly.

Pay William Berger Honor in Synagogue

Every synagogue of Greater Boston was represented at the banquet tendered to William Wolf Berger, president of the Beth Israel Synagogue, Baldwin place, North End, the first and largest orthodox synagogue of Boston. Prominent Jews spoke, and Mr. Berger was presented a set of resolutions.

SOAP ON HAIR CAUSES DANDRUFF, SCALP GETS DRY, HAIR FALLS OUT

Girls! Get a 25-cent bottle and try a "Danderine Hair Cleanse."

After washing your hair with soap always apply a little Danderine to the scalp to invigorate the hair and prevent dryness. Better still, use soap as sparingly as possible and instead have a "Danderine Hair Cleanse." Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one strand at a time. This will remove dust, dirt and excessive oil. In a few moments you will be amazed, your hair will not only be clean, but it will be wavy, fluffy and abundant, and possess an incomparable softness and lustre.

Besides cleansing and beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; stimulates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

Mm! Ladies! You can surely have lots of charming hair. Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it.

Toy Theatre Plans Central Playhouse

Invasion of Theatrical District Contemplated.

Encouraged by past success, the Toy Theatre has completed plans for erecting a playhouse in the theatre district of the city. Conferences with the architect are already under way and a building is being planned to serve as a model for intimate dramatic performances.

The stock, good will and property of the present theatre are to be taken over by Lyman Gale, Russell Churchill, Charles Vorhees and Mrs. Gale. They will issue 300 shares of preferred stock, guaranteed to pay 7 per cent. The work will be aided by Mrs. Roger N. Burnham, William C. Wilson, Grayden Stetson, Mrs. Frederick H. Briggs and others.

Malone Likely for New York Collector

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Dudley Field Malone, third assistant Secretary of State and son-in-law of Senator James A. O'Gorman, is the man at present most prominently mentioned as the successor of John Purroy Mitchel as collector of the port of New York. He, it is generally believed, will be appointed by Secretary McAdoo, with the consent of President Wilson.

Senator Mack May Seek Presidency

NORTH ADAMS, Nov. 6.—Senator John H. Mack, re-elected for a fourth term, may be a candidate for the Senate presidency. Influential Boston friends of the Senator discussed the matter with him over the telephone today.

Mother Seeks Son.

John J. Murrin, twenty-four, is sought by his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Murrin of No. 7 Texas street, Roxbury. He disappeared last December.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, after another application or two it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.

NEW GOVERNOR IS A GRADUATE OF HOLY CROSS

While Fitchburg and Clinton are admitted to have first claim on the honor of sending a "native son" to the governor's chair, Worcester is also presenting her credentials for her share of the honors because the executive-elect is a graduate of one of her famous institutions of learning—Holy Cross College. This fact, in the way, should remind all Boston AMERICAN readers that right now is the time to get Holy Cross College pennants, Massachusetts State pennants and all the rest of the more popular pennants and banners which are now being distributed by the AMERICAN to its readers.

TALK ABOUT A BIG PENNANT SALE!—Nothing in the world can ever touch the bargain offer which the AMERICAN has just made—for a limited time anybody can have $2.50 for 95c and don't walk—don't run—don't go easy to reach out and grab it. A word to the wise hunters—backed up by the Boston AMERICAN'S guarantee—is usually sufficient.

Read this: For a short time only, the Boston AMERICAN offers its readers an extraordinary chance to get a collection of genuine wool felt college pennants at 10c each, or three for 25c, OR A SET OF 12 FOR 95c.

Size of each pennant is 36 by 15 inches, exclusive of fringe with letters embossed on wool felt—not the cheap, embossed, cotton kind, regularly sold by others at 10 cents. THERE IS NO COMPARISON, MORE THAN HALF A MILLION of these same pennants have already been distributed by the AMERICAN. They satisfied every purchaser. You will pay 50 cents, 75 cents or $1.00 at the football games this Fall for a pennant NOT as good as these. By using these assorted subjects, perfectly delightful decorative effects can be obtained in your den, library, or, in fact, any room in the house. Table cloths, pillow covers, etc., are only a few of the countless decorating possibilities. So act quickly!

Cornell (red and white).
Holy Cross (violet and white).
Massachusetts (blue and white).
Pennsylvania (blue and red).
Boston College (maroon and gold).
Paul Revere (buff and blue).
Wellesley (blue and white).
Red Sox (red and white).
Columbia (light blue and white).
Army (black, yellow and gray).
Navy (dark blue and yellow).
U. S. A. (dark blue and white).

This Will Remove Hairs From Face

(Toilet Talks.)

Many beauty experts have discarded the electric needle and are now using a plain delatone paste to remove hairy growths, because this method is almost instantaneous and is entirely devoid of pain. The paste is made by mixing some powdered delatone with water, and this is applied to the hairy surface for about 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed. This banishes every trace of hair and leaves the skin soft and spotless. Be sure to get the delatone in an original package.

McLean Is Made Tilden Trustee

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Justice Newburger has appointed former Justice Charles F. McLean trustee of the will of Samuel J. Tilden, to succeed the late John Bigelow. Several heirs, including Anna Gould, Princess TeoSagan, petitioned the court to remove George W. Smith as trustee on the ground he was in his duties by not agreeing upon a third trustee. Justice Newburger dismissed this petition.

Death of Grace Lathrop Collin

Woman Claims Body for Life Insurance

Proved Not to be Stranger's Widow and Loses $180.

The body of the man, sixty, found dead at the Dover street baths, which was first claimed by a woman as her long lost husband, was later positively identified by Edward Sullivan of No. 8 Hingold street, South End, as that of Leon A. Frederick, an old time actor of repute.

According to Medical Examiner Leary, the effort of the woman to claim the body was most pathetic. It was, he said, an attempt to collect a small sum of insurance she had paid for years on her missing husband, by claiming another's body as his.

The woman is asserted to have asked Medical Examiner Leary to sign the insurance papers for $180. She asked for the money to care for her four children.

DRUG AND TOILET SUNDRIES

Why should you buy Drug and Toilet Articles in a Dry Goods store?

We put that question simply to bring out the fact that this is not a Dry Goods Store. The SHEPARD DRUG and TOILET STORE is as distinctively and completely such as it can be made. It has its separate entrance and is divided from all the other SHEPARD stores by physical barriers.

However, modern and progressive Dry Goods store methods control it.

That means cleanliness, freshness, economy. We protect you against stale goods, unworthy goods, and traditional drug store exorbitancy. For example:

"KIDLET" HOT WATER BOTTLE—Covered with Canton flannel, pictures that appeal to the little ones printed on tinted grounds..... 50c

MAROON SEAMLESS HOT WATER BOTTLES—2-quart capacity, guaranteed for one year; value $1.50; special at..... $1.00

What Society Really Talks About

By F. Townsend Martin IN NEXT SUNDAY'S AMERICAN

Rage Over Prussian Ban on Amundsen

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 6.—The prohibition by the Prussian authorities of a lecture by Captain Amundsen at Flensburg, Schleswig, has caused indignation throughout Denmark and Norway. It is understood that the explorer will lecture at Flensburg, but that the audience will be specially invited.

CANCER FREE TREATISE The Lloyd Sanatorium, Indianapolis, Ind., has published a booklet which gives interesting facts about the cause of Cancer; also tells what to do for pain, bleeding, odor, etc. Write for it today, mentioning this paper.

FEEL HEADACHY, DIZZY, BILIOUS? CLEAN YOUR LIVER! A DIME A BOX

Sick headaches! Always trace them to lazy liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or a sick stomach. Poisonous, constipated matter, gases and bile generated in the bowels, instead of being carried out of the system, is reabsorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, sickening headache. Cascarets will remove the cause by stimulating the liver, making the bile and constipation poison move on and out of the bowels. One taken tonight straightens you out by morning—a 10-cent box will keep your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular, and make you feel bright and cheerful for months. Children need Cascarets, too.

The Typical American Girl: Does She Live in Boston?

The AMERICAN is still looking for the typical American girl. She was on the streets of Boston today, but no one happened to pick her out, and she escaped.

Boston artists, who have been asked to describe the American Girl cannot state exactly what she looks like. All agree she is beautiful, more beautiful than her sisters across the water, and they can tell her when she is seen on the streets of Paris, London or Berlin. Few can say what makes her different.

Out of the many photographs that are coming in to the "Typical American Girl" Editor of the AMERICAN, one will be picked as truly American, and an oil painting made of her, that the type of young womanhood of 1913 may be preserved.

Whatever else may be expected of the favorite, it is fairly sure she must possess a kind of beauty that stands for American character and grace.

Any girls may be winners, for the typical girl is as likely to come from the farm or the factory as she is to be the product of some wealthy home.

All photographs will be received and acknowledged and each one given due consideration by the committee of artist judges, who will make the final choice.

$200,000 Suits Over Brockton Disaster

Action in Court as Result of Explosion Eight Years Ago.

BROCKTON, Nov. 6.—On an appeal from the finding of Judge Chamberlain as auditor, fourteen suits, aggregating $200,000, were today marked for trial at the present term of court.

The suits are an echo of the explosion that destroyed the shoe factory of R. B. Grover and killed fifty-four persons, eight years ago.

The plaintiffs who are suing for injuries received themselves or by relatives, are Thomas F. McSherry, Joseph F. McLoughlin, Felix Tellenl, Elmer H. Dodge, Nathaniel O. Lewis, Charles L. Rollins, William Burt, Arthur C. Pierce, Anna A. Jowett, Orin M. Reynolds, John H. Joyce, George W. Lawrence, William Lightfoot and Cornelius Good.

Balkan War Nurse Weds Boston Man

Miriam Hathaway of Middleboro to Harry LeB. Sampson's Bride.

MIDDLEBORO, Nov. 6.—Miss Miriam Hathaway, who became the bride here of Harry LeB. Sampson, a Boston lawyer, was a nurse in the Balkan war. She was decorated for her services.

Mrs. Sampson is a graduate of Wellesley, and later taught at the American College for Girls in Constantinople. The Rev. Norman McKinnon of the Central Congregation Church officiated at the marriage.

For Miss Sanderson [illegible] this season. Today wasn't. With being interviewed [illegible] exhibition it may be said that Miss Sanderson does not object to talking to newspaperwomen and having her statements printed, but on several occasions she has asked to newspaper people and on the members of the company when they are not in the stage and never as professional friends of the star.

This [illegible] it was introduced to a [illegible] Sanderson's mother and Mrs. Lydia Sackett. Miss Sanderson's mother and constant companion, and Allan Wilson, Basil Hyder of Pop Sam the Girl. They were not chatting when I arrived, and I want to say I suppose they were discussing not the future of the stage, or, in fact, any topic connected [illegible] theatre, or the latter remarked in fact that a minor college team had just crushingly defeated the big Yale team at football.

Also it may be said right here that Miss Sanderson revealed an astounding knowledge of football and an accurate acquaintance with the standing and an accurate acquaintance with the standing and qualities of the various [illegible] varsity teams.

Occasionally a strain of "dance" music would drift in through the open door or a chorus girl in fantastic attire would run by and once Mr. Wolfe excused himself and was absent about five minutes, then returned and resumed the football discussion. It was hard to realize that in the meantime he had sung and danced one of the big hits of "The Sunshine Girl" and been heartily encored by a large audience.

Nature's Own Wrapper Keeps Tobacco Best

The Natural Leaf Wrapper is valued highly because it enables the manufacturer to give you the freshest—sweetest —coolest tobacco for your pipe.

In Master Workman Tobacco all the natural moisture, on which the natural flavor of the leaf depends, is retained, because all the moisture and sweetness of the leaf is pressed into the plug and kept there by Nature's own package—the natural leaf wrapper.

Sliced or granulated tobacco must be inferior to Master Workman Plug, because any chopped-up tobacco must lose its moisture and flavor —become dry—burn fast and smoke hot. That's why all such chopped up tobaccos bite your tongue.

If you want a slow-burning—cool—sweet smoke, get a plug of Master Workman today and whittle off a fresh pipeful. That first smoke will show you.

WALTER MARANVILLE TELLS OF VALUE OF BASEBALL AS EXERCISE FOR THE BOY WHO WORKS INDOORS

Maranville Tells Value of Baseball as Exercise

Says Boys Who Work Indoors Should Play Ball in Order to Keep Their Blood in Proper Circulation.

By WALTER J. (RABBIT) MARANVILLE.

Walter J. Maranville

JUST what I was waiting for. The question is asked of me, "Does a fellow who works hard in the endeavor to keep his health by playing ball after he is through work?" Now to get down to cold brass tacks, he does not endanger his health in the least, but on the contrary ball playing after one has worked all day is good physically.

Many of our young men are employed in stores or shops, where they are kept working the entire day. When they are through work, naturally a tired feeling comes over them. That is just why they should do some sort of exercise, to get their blood in the proper circulation. The best exercise that I know of in the world is ball playing. It is most beneficial to the hard working man, first because it tends to exercise each and every muscle, and second, because it keeps him in the open air, which is a very healthful change from a stuffy factory or store.

"I USED TO WORK IN A FACTORY."

I used to work in a factory at one time, where my nose was kept to the grindstone, so to speak. But just as soon as the whistle sounded quitting time, I just ran to the ball field, which was a vacant lot near where I worked. The other boys and myself would play ball until darkness put an end to the game.

Of course, I always had in mind that some day I would be able to play ball for a living, and that urge kept me constantly practicing. But I learned a lesson in order to realize that one does not intend to make baseball a profession, and that is to take some exercise. Work in a factory or store, where you are confined, is bound to tell on the strongest constitution, and I would advise every young man who is working indoors to get out in the open air and play baseball. It will not only benefit your health, but will also help you to get a start in baseball, and if you are good enough you will be sure to get a chance to play professional baseball. I am a firm believer in baseball as an exercise, and I am sure that many a young man who is now working indoors will be benefited by playing baseball.

Answers to Questions

Persistence Won Out

It is a well known fact that he was always trying for new positions, and finally succeeded in getting on the team. I then asked him if he could tell me how he got started in baseball, and he replied as follows:

"I was never satisfied to work in the factories, and always tried to get out in baseball, and as a result I was always trying for positions with baseball teams. However,

LEADERS BEING PUSHED HARD IN SIX-DAY GRIND

STANDING OF RIDERS AT END OF THIRD DAY

The fourth day of the great six-day cycle race at the Arena, which began this afternoon at 4 o'clock, will find six teams still tied for the first honors with 866 miles and two laps. This is many miles ahead of the old New York record, and present indications are that a new one will be established before the riders quit the track on Saturday night.

The continued grind is beginning to tell on the riders. Never before in the history of the bike game in Boston has the pace been so hot, or sprints so consistent. Attempts at lap stealing and the gaining back of lost ground seem to come every minute. The tail-end teams refuse to let up on the leaders. They are making desperate tries to make up ground and are forcing the leading trio to records by doing so.

Matty Brush, the speedy New Jersey boy, and Louis Corry, the Australian, who teamed up when their respective mates, Lawson and Spears, were forced out of the race, are making strong attempt to gain back the lap which they were forced to forfeit according to the rules. With such a fast team as this in the race, it means continual trouble for the leaders. The Root-Kopsky and Carman-Coburn team two of whom gained back a lap in the third day of riding, are still a lap behind the field.

The added incentive of "prizes," which are being offered by the "fans" and Lagonda, for one mile sprints, are adding excitement to the event and consequently in a large way to the record which the boys are on the road to

Big Mass Meeting for Harvard Squad

President Lowell to Address Football Players Tonight Before They Invade Jungletown.

By SYDE LYNES.

THE Harvard eleven which invades Jungletown Saturday on a hunt for the Tigers' goat, a most peculiar combination it must be admitted, was scheduled to have a fairly easy time of it behind closed doors in the Stadium today, in its final preparation for the big battle. What is not forthcoming to hard work this afternoon, however, will be made up at the big mass meeting to be held in the Harvard Union this evening, when the teams get the "big hand" from a mob of students which is expected to fill the big places, and also a few words of kindly advice and good cheer from President Lowell of Harvard University, in what we believe to be the initial appearance of a Harvard president at a football mass meeting. Verily this is a history making day.

And we are told that after the meeting, and this is upon good authority, Captain Storer will say to the aforementioned mob of Harvard football fandom, in the words of Coriolanus, the creation of Shakespeare, if there be any amongst us who know it not

I thank you for your voices; thank you.

Your most sweet voices.

Incidentally may we say that we admit everything but the sweet.

SQUAD LEAVES TOMORROW.

AT all events the work for the eleven today was to be a light dummy scrimmage against the second eleven, and subs, some kicking, a little blackboard talk, some eats at the training table, and then a night's rest and off to Tigertown with a howling crew following after to Princeton sixteen of the best of the second eleven as guests of the varsity. Ten of the men chosen for the trip decided that they could well afford to pay their own expenses, and withdrew their preference suggesting that ten others be taken in their places, which was done, and now twenty-six of the second eleven will be on hand to watch the game and lend moral support. It is also suspected that some of them may be sent in to help out Princeton if things go badly for the Princetonians. At all events it was a very thoughtful and courteous thing for those ten men to do, and they are to be congratulated upon it.

MAHAN IN WORKOUT.

THE work in the last big scrimmage was particularly hard for this time of the year, which goes to show that Head Coach Haughton is not being misled by the record of the team this year, which after all is nothing more than should have been expected of it, and realizes that in Princeton this Saturday, the Crimson has a foe worthy its steel. After the work every man was thoroughly tired, but also was each and every man seething with knowledge of football as to the head, being the accusative of specification Mahan was out in force and got into the thick of the work, and he looked fully as strong and fast as when he was last seen in action in the Stadium against Penn State.

BLACKBOARD TALKS.

THE afternoon's drill started off with the regulation blackboard talk, without which as we have previously pointed out, the chalk factories would pass dividends, and Harvard is certainly the poor man's friend if anything, a three-quarter hour workout against the second eleven following. The varsity went on the defence throughout against the forward pass in Tiger and later the subs had it out with the second team on the same work.

COACHES PUT AT WORK.

THEN came the big time. Head Coach Haughton ever thoughtful of his assistants and evidently feeling that they were not keeping in as good trim as possible, amid the blood curdling yells, groans and shrieks, chose as a team a number of coaches and subs. The victims from the coaching staff were L. Withington, "Hobe" Fisher, Paul Whittington, Beede, Parmenter, "Jim" Cotsett and "Tommy" Campbell, while subs filled in the vacant berths. Then they went to it for half an hour.

FORMATIONS GONE OVER.

THE work was purely offensive for the varsity, and every play in the Crimson curriculum was run through and tested by the fire of former coaches, which sometimes threatened to be extinguished, and all the rough edges of the team's work were smoothed off as much as possible. All the formations that have not yet been used, but that may be sprung on the Tigers, if said secret animals have resisted their old time spring, and those that have been used regularly this year, were gone through again and again, no attempt being made to score, the only idea being as we have stated to get the big machine in smooth running order.

Name Exeter Officials.

Officials for the Andover-Exeter football game at Exeter Saturday were announced by Dr. Page of Andover and H. A. Rose of Exeter, the powwow directors. A. F. Waiting of Cornell will be referee, Dr. Edward O'Brien, Tufts, umpire, and Bob Maxwell, Swarthmore, head linesman.

VARIED ATTACK TIGERS' HOPE IN BIG GAME

By "TOM" CAMPBELL.

Backfield Coach at Harvard

Saturday's game between Princeton and Harvard gives every indication of being the best contest of the year and should furnish more thrills than most championship contests because of the nature of the play of both teams. Both elevens play an entirely different system of attack, and Saturday should prove the value of the open style against the more conservative method of play.

The Princeton attack consists of a bewildering line shift followed immediately by the play. This form of offence was first introduced into the East by Tom Shevlin and used by Yale in 1910. Apparently Princeton was so impressed by the shift that she adopted it with a few variations and it has been the style of attack for the past two years.

It is a style of play that requires a great deal of drill and an active set of wits. The value of this type of attack is apparent to the most untutored baseball fan. The men do not take their positions until just before the ball is put into play, thus giving the defensive side but little time to take their positions and meet the charge.

While it is a bewildering and speedy method of attack, it has its drawbacks and it requires a great deal of drill to be at all successful.

While it adds to the speed of a team it also takes more out of the men, and plays run from it must to a certain degree be limited.

This was illustrated in the Dartmouth game two weeks ago, when the Princeton offense consisted almost entirely of kicks and forward passes, because the shift was useless. The Princeton team could not help but feel the tremendous handicap under which it was laboring on that day and were beaten from the start.

So much for the Minnesota shift.

Princeton uses the forward pass with greater success than any team in the East.

This is due to the fact that "Hobey" Baker, Hammond and Shea are all adept in its use and can be used either to send or receive the ball.

Harvard and Yale have been heavily chary of using this style of attack because of its risk. Often it acts as a boomerang, as was illustrated best in 1910 when Graustein, of Harvard, intercepted a Brown forward pass on his own goal line and ran the length of the field for a touchdown, converting what looked to be a sure touchdown for Brown into six points for his own team.

Princeton has the fastest and most varied attack of the year, and by this means hopes to triumph on Saturday. With the brilliant Hobey Baker in the Princeton backfield and his accurate forward pass attack is well balanced and will cause any team a lot of trouble.

Tomorrow I will take up the Harvard offenses and its comparative value.

Dartmouth Squad Off for Penn Game Today

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 6.—The Dartmouth football squad will leave for New York today. This will be their stopping place until late Friday or early Saturday when they will proceed to Philadelphia, where Penn will be played Saturday.

A long, hard workout marked the last day's practice of the Green in preparation for the game. The work was most gratifying to the coaches, as the team showed more life and speed than has been shown since the week before the Princeton game. All the regulars, Bogardus, London, Whitney, Dunbar and Lowe are now in the best possible condition and will be in the game Saturday, while a senior was playing his best game of his career, is probably out for the season. His loss is a severe blow to the team, but Murdock is a first-rate substitute.

Whitney, Murdock and Curtis will start the game as the backfield and all are in the finest condition to play the best game of their career. This trio are now working together better than ever before, and much is expected of them at Penn.

Will Number Tiger Players Saturday

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 6.—Princeton players will be numbered in the game against Harvard next Saturday. This announcement was made today. Harvard's consent to the Tigers' innovation has been received, but the Crimson coaches refused to consider Princeton's suggestion that the Cambridge players also be numbered. The action of the football authorities is taken entirely in the interests of the spectators, but is also putting into practice a departure which Parke Davis has suggested to the rules committee for the past three years.

Schoolboy Sport News and Notes

IN THE EXCITEMENT OVER the Exeter-Andover game, the Waltham and Newton battle has been overlooked. This is going to be a wonderful contest. Neither of these teams have been beaten this fall. Their Married Life

Helen Is Hysterical When the Dressmaker Sends Home Her Gown Almost Ruined.

By MABEL HERBERT URNER

"O H, she's ruined it!" She's just RUINED it!" almost sobbed Helen, turning away from the mirror in despair.

"Couldn't you fix it, Miss?" suggested Nora, who had been called in to look up the gown that just came from the dressmaker's.

"How CAN I fix it," excitedly, "when there isn't any more goods? I got that in Paris—three dollars and a half a yard! And now look at it! Unhook it! There's no use keeping it on—it only makes me wild to think about it."

"It don't look bad on you, Miss," ventured Nora, comfortingly.

"You don't think I'd wear anything like that, do you? Why the skirt's so narrow I can't step—and look how it draws over the hips! And this sleeve—did you ever see anything set like that? Why, a cheap seamstress could do better—and she charged $18—$18 for ruining my dress!"

Helen's voice grew shrill with excitement and she brushed away the angry tears.

"I wouldn't let it upset me, Miss. Maybe if you'll take it back she can fix it."

HELEN HYSTERICAL

"She CAN'T fix it, I tell you," turning to Nora almost fiercely. "Too whole thing's cut wrong! I'll send her back the dress as a present—that's what I'll do," shrilly, "and write her a letter, too!"

Nora had gone out to answer the kitchen bell and Helen, who was now thoroughly wrought up and excited, talked on to herself:

"If I told her once I told her a dozen times to make the skirt at least a yard and a half—three-quarters—and its not even a yard and a half! Oh, where is the tape measure?" angrily stirring up the work basket.

"The skirt measured a scant yard and [illegible] bottom, and Helen's [illegible] at this verification. Mrs. Stevens right now? [illegible] her how she could recommend [illegible] satisfied with indignation [illegible] the number, but forgetfulness was not [illegible] up the dressmaker her. I not wait to write! A cool, sarcastic, indignant [illegible] on her lips. If that woman [illegible] she would quickly accept such a dress with such a bill—— But she's not the bill! She should have it before her name also phoned.

It was several moments before she could find the bill, and by that time she decided that she could not do the matter over the phone. She had better write.

Again she went over the bill—every item bringing a fresh wave of resentment:

She was walking up and down, rehearsing out loud [illegible] ding to write.

HER LETTER

"My dear Madam" her voice was icy [illegible] sarcasm. "I am making you a present of the dress you have ruined for me. Possibly you or some of your customers may be able to wear it, as I cannot. It is difficult to understand how you can run an establishment when you turn out such work as this. My little two-dollar-a-day seamstress could have done infinitely better. Although I told you DISTINCTLY the EXACT width I wanted the skirt——"

Here Helen paused. No—no—it must be more terse and sarcastic. A long letter was never so effective as a short, caustic one.

She went to her desk and began and tore up one note after another. It was hard to say all she wanted to, and still keep the letter short.

"The man is here to fix that transom, Miss," Nora interposed.

"Very well—I'll come and show him about it.

All the transoms were fitted with patented devices for opening them, which always worked stiffly and were usually out of order.

The one that needed adjusting now was over the library door, and to escape the sound of the grating file Helen took refuge in her bedroom.

There the dress on the bed confronted her. Again she took it up, the bump of fierce resentment still in her throat.

She could not resist slipping it on again—just to see how bad it was. Slowly she turned around before the long mirror in her closet door.

Reluctantly she admitted that in spite of the glaring defects the dress had a certain style and grace, and was undeniably becoming. She turned up the skirt and examined the seams—yes, they were large enough to let out. The skirt could be made at least three inches wider. And that dreary look over the hips—would letting the seams out help that?

The instinct to "fix things" was always strong in Helen. And the next moment she had the dress off and was sitting on the floor recklessly ripping it up. At any rate, she could not hurt it. She could not make it any worse than it was.

SHE TRIES

Fortunately, the goods was soft and did not show the stitches. In less than half an hour she had basted back the seams and was eagerly trying it on. It now set neatly around the hips, and she could take wide steps across the room. Again she had it off and was ripping out the offending sleeve.

She had forgotten all about the letter. Her only thought now was to finish the dress so that she could wear it that evening. They were not going out, but Helen always wanted to wear a new gown the first time at home.

It was easy to rip and baste, but the sewing was much more tedious, and it was almost 6 before she finally slipped on the now remodeled gown. The satisfaction of having overcome a difficulty by her own ingenuity helped to obliterate her resentment. So it was with a certain pleasant consciousness that she ran to meet Warren.

"Hello, want you all dolled up for?" "Do you like it?" eagerly. "This is the goods I got in Paris. You know it and Mrs. Stevens's dressmaker make it up.

"Turn around" critically. What a this dangling thing?"

"Ooh, that's all right—that's the sash. But what about the general effect? Does it—have the hips? Do you like the way the skirt hangs? She charged enough for making it—$18. It ought to be right.

"Looks all right to me."

VERY DIFFERENT

"Well, it wasn't when it came," decidedly. "I had to practically make it over—look how I let out these seams!

I was [illegible] at first—but I think it [illegible] pretty well now."

Just [illegible] Nora called Helen into the [illegible] and Warren sat down at the [illegible] look over some papers he had brought from the office. Helen's undressed setter to the dressmaker lay before him. His glance fell on one of the seam [illegible] and he tried to make sarcastic

"What's all this?" he demanded as she came back into the room. "Making your own clothes? Thought you were going to be busy reading [illegible] this afternoon?"

"Oh, dear, don't—please don't read that! I was all upset when I wrote it—I would never have sent it."

She was trying to take the note from him, but he held her off with one hand while he mercilessly read it aloud. Even to Helen it now sounded hysterical.

WARREN DISGUSTED

"That's a nice dignified thing to write! You'd have sent it, too. Youre always going off half cocked and making a fool of yourself," as he tossed the note in the waste basket with a shrug of disgust.

"But, dear, if I do get upset about [illegible]—don't I always get over it quickly? You know I never stay angry long."

"I'm talking about the fool things you do in your tantrums. Cooling off afterward don't help."

"Why, Warren, they're not 'tantrums,'" indignantly, "I'm no more quick tempered than you are!"

"Well, I mean up in the air every time [illegible] went wrong at the office—I'd get through with it quick enough, wouldn't I? There's that skirt pose! Why in Sam Hill don't you ever tell this instead? Nobody asking you to make a saint swear to try to do any writing at THIS desk."

The Tiniest Picture

Mr. Samuel Schultz who has a music and mural painting studio at Wilmington, Delaware, has been, during a leisure moment in painting subjects in heroic size, the unique distinction of having done the smallest picture painted in the world.

This picture was executed on a grain of corn, and the painter has only now recovered it after having lost possession of it for more than forty years. Having lost track of the picture, which he made in 1868, when he was only nineteen years old Schultz decided recently to try to recover it.

He advertised in several foreign news papers, with the result that the tiny landscape was sent to him in a locket frame a few days ago, the painting, in color and line, being as sharp and clear as on the day of its execution.

The particular grain of corn used remains an ear that Mr Schultz as a lad picked on the estate of James Buchanan fifteenth President of the United States at Wheatland, Pa. He had gone there to attend the ex-President's funeral, and plucked the ear of corn as a souvenir. As for the picture itself, a well known artist, who saw it many years ago, declared it was a masterpiece of miniature painting.

The Futurist Twirl (Article No. 3) BY DONALD BRIAN

In Pictures with Miss Carol McComas, Posed Especially for These Pages

FIRST POSITION

By Donald Brian
Star of "The Marriage Market"

Copyright, 1913, by International News Service

THE fourth movement of the Futurist Twirl introduces the tango movement. I don't know that my tango movement is so very different from that of other people, but I will try to give a very lucid description of it at any rate.

At the end of the third movement the man and girl were in the regular turkey trot position, and this position is of course maintained for the tango, as is shown in the accompanying illustrations

Then the man and girl step forward, beginning with the left foot, then the right, then the left foot, then the right, then the left foot across the right on ball of foot, back for a second on right ball of foot, and then forward on left, weight off right, the position ending with the left foot down, and the right foot poised in back. In counting for this position, the regular dancing teacher's method would be, left, right, pause, left, right, left, rapidly, following the steps given above like, one, two pause one, two, three. This is a very simple dance step that has frequently been introduced to advantage in many of the dances of today. There is nothing particularly novel in it; it is simply the right adaptation in the right place —the importance of which I have emphasized in a previous article.

These few steps at the beginning of this measure take up four of the eight counts which constitute the basis of each movement. The remaining four steps are a repetition of the fish-walk which came in the first movement, the exaggerated stride with a pull back on each step like a slightly lengthened skip.

THEN THE FISH-WALK

This fish-walk ends the fourth in the third, is the rapid transition between steps it is of great importance to have no break at all between the one, two, pause, one, two, three steps, and the fish-walk movement. There should be a rapid gliding from one to the other Practice this

TWO RADICAL MOVEMENTS

The next two movements of the Futurist Twirl are more decidedly radical than any of these that I have already given to you

SECOND POSITION

So as a parting injunction I shall ask everyone to be as near perfect as possible in the first three movements, so that there will be no trouble in grasping the more complicated measures of the steps to come

A Bachelor's Diary

By MAX

OCT. 17.—I will paste the letter from Sally on your pages, Diary.

Perhaps, if you ever grow a brain, it will furnish it with a fool for developing purpose. I am sure if you also had a heart somewhere in your dried paper make-up the letter would put a little impetus into its circulation

"My Dear Mat—I am glad to learn in the cablegram I received from Richards today that you are back in your own home. It means so much to the tired and sick to get home. I envy a fairy that those who are permanently home less never have the chance for recovery that those have who a home to go to, for in no abiding-place in this big world is there found the promise, the security, the rest, that is found in one's home. I wish I could end all this senseless travel and return to smile.

"You will say, Why can't you? That, dear Max, depends on you.

"I am going to put the whole responsibility of what happens to us in the future on your shoulders. Your sex boasts of its superior strength. Let us see if you are strong enough to protect me from you, to guard me from myself.

HIS LOVE

"You know when I left home that I loved you. Can you imagine how that love has grown during all these long months we have been apart? I now it is dominate me. I fear—not myself, I will end in no destruction and fear the next moment that I want for security without you has become hell compared with the ecstasy of complete safety you

"How soft and tired the struggle of trying to save has become from the results of his own folly. After escapades with the wild set that have dominated his income more than once, he is sick, sick, and that have a subdued effect. Paris he is back on his knees to be deserting that he loves me more than ever; that my patience with him has been his salvation. If you were like other women, I'd say you would have checked me overboard to my eternal destruction long ago.

"Max, why can't I be like the 'other women' he talks about? Why should I respect the marriage tie when he repeatedly tramples it in the mud? Why can't I forget you, take my little joke boys down the Primrose Path with you? Why should he satisfy every craving of his nature and honor a mere be my portion?

"There I can't get a divorce without altering up a nasty scandal and attaching to my name a word that I am old-fashioned enough to find disreputable, why may I not return to my home, and there, under cover of the old-time friendship, which my husband sanctions and the world approves, give to you that which our love gives you the right to demand?

"Do I fall from the pedestal on which you have put me by writing this? Then let me climb back with this confession:

"I am homesick for my home. May I come home to it and see you occasionally, and both of us remain strong enough to forget our love in my duty to the man who treats me as only a selfish brute knows how to treat a woman?

"Is the measure of your strength, is it great enough for this test? Then take the measure of my weakness, and know that you will have to be strong for two! Can you do it?

A GOOD GIRL

"Richards writes that your nurse is a very good girl and a very pretty and lovable. She suggests a romantic situation for you which made me smile. There was a time when I tried to marry you to Elizabeth's governess, believing that if you were another woman's husband I could overcome my love for you. I know at last it was a ridiculous mistake. If you married the nurse she would not be a bar in our path. You would go on loving me and wanting me. We would only complicate our troubles and sacrifice her.

"Don't marry her, Max. Don't make things harder for me than they are now. "Think it over for both of us. Are you so strong in your sense of morality that it will be safe for me to come home?

Or will you condemn me to another year's exile from you and temptation?

"SALLY."

Now what, Diary, should any man who has been decent all his life, and wants to go on being decent, reply to a letter like that?

Never Heard It Called That

It was at a country ball at which the regular printed ball programme, with the dainty little pencil attached, was being used for the first time. A young fellow from the city noting that a stout and not very attractive young woman was being a good deal of a wall flower, took pity on her and said:

"May your programme fall?"

"My what?"

"Your programme."

After a moment's reflection she said: "I-a, no! I ain't et but one dough-nut!"

Which?

After a third addition to the family it occurs necessary to secure the service of a permanent nurse.

"Now, my husband is very particular about whom I engage as nurse," said the mistress to a girl who had applied for the position. "Are you faithful, and have you a kind, loving disposition? Will you——"

"Excuse me, madam. Am I to take care of the baby or your husband?"

The Seven Mistakes of Matrimony

No. 5

By DOROTHY DIX

THE fifth deadly mistake of matrimony is.

FOR HUSBANDS AND WIVES NOT TO BE COMPANIONABLE

Outside of the countries in which women are shut up in harems, there is no place where husbands and wives have so little in common as in America.

And America leads the world in divorces.

In this country it is hardly too much to say that the separation of husband and wife begins on their wedding day. He goes one way. She goes another. He absorbs himself in business. She absorbs herself in her housekeeping, or society, or her clubs. He entertains his friends, as a general thing, downtown, and she doesn't even know the names of his masculine cronies. She gives her parties to women that he does not know by sight. Each has a life distinct and separate from the other.

You will see the Englishman and his wife playing golf together, or riding to hounds together, or tramping together in long walks over the country. You will see the thrifty French bourgeois and his wife keeping the store together during the week, and then off together on Sunday on some little excursion, or to make a little feast. You will see the German and his wife spending their evenings together, happily and placidly, in some German "beer garden," but the American husband and wife nearly always take their pleasures singly.

It is the distinctively American joke in which, when a man says that he is going to Paris, his friend asks him:

"Are you going to take your wife along with you?"

"Why," no," exclaims the man in surprise, "of course not. I didn't I tell you I was going on a pleasure trip?"

One of the main reasons why marriage is a failure is because both husband and wife are bored stiff. The [illegible] piece of the average home is as heavy as lead, and the conversational range better fitted for the inmates of a feeble minded institution than for intelligent and cultivated men and women

THEY YAWN

It is literally true that unless a couple have children they have nothing what ever to talk about, no subject in which they are mutually interested, and so they sit up and yawn in each other's faces, and take to quarreling as a kind of life saving studies to prevent them from perishing of ennui.

This seems an exaggeration, but just note the domestic conversation at any breakfast table you know. Isn't it about Johnnie's new shoes, or Mary's going to school? Then about the cat? Then about the servant? Then a request for money? And when there are no children the repartee is cut down by one topic. Thrillingly interesting, madly exciting isn't it?

Yet, what else have the husband and wife to say to each other? What else have they got in common except the children, and the pug dog, and the cook, and the household expenses? Nothing. The husband's work necessarily takes him into an environment of which his wife can know nothing, and when he isn't at work he goes off with other men to enjoy himself, for it is not the custom for American men and women to play together

To give us due credit, we have blundered into the idea of suffix through blindly following the line of least resistance. Men have taken their pleasures in the way they "liked best. So have women, and it must be confessed the ideal of a good time suffers in the sexes. There are a very few American women who really enjoy athletic sports, and most the average American married man only attains, through fasting and prayer, to the pinnacle where he can endure teas and receptions with an expression that indicates joy

THEY LEARN

Nevertheless, if a husband and wife mean to make a success of their life together they must learn to play together, for there are no ties stronger than those that bind us to the comrades of our happy hours, no society so dear as that which we can fill in with a succession of "Do you remembers?"

That this is true needs no better proof than the fact that we never question the domestic felicity of that couple that we see setting out on their honeymoon together. When we observe the Smiths packing their camp kit for a run down to Florda for tarpon fishing, or meet the Joneses at a suffrage meeting, we know that all is well in those two households.

But when we hear that Mrs. Smith has had forty new dresses made for Palm Beach, and that Mr. Smith has gone to Montreal for the tobogganing, or we meet Mrs. Jones at a hen club and Mr. Jones at a poker club, we aren't in the least surprised when we pick up the paper some morning and read that these couples who didn't know how to play together, anyway, have decided to break away from each other and try playing in somebody else's backyard.

The moral of all this is that if husbands and wives would be happy, though married, they must cultivate an interest in each other's pursuits. They must have friends in common, amusements in common, hobbies in common And especially they should not be killjoys to each other. The woman whose narrow, prejudice and bossiness forces her husband to give stag parties at his club instead of in his home, or the man who never goes out to a party with his wife without looking like an early Christian martyr and being so grumpy that he destroys all of her pleasure, have laid the axe at the root of their family happiness.

For it is the beginning of the end when either husband or wife finds out that he, or she, can have a better time when the other one is absent. The only really married people are those who never truly enjoy anything unless their playmate is along

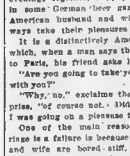
So, young man, and young woman, starting out in life, remember this little tip: Learn to be a sport and to play your partner's game. You may not like it at first, but you can learn to like it if you will. There are plenty of things that are trivial in themselves, but you can cultivate a taste for them.

WOMAN ESCAPES OPERATION

By Timely Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Here is her own statement.

Cary, Maine.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely walk straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could hardly enjoy anything. I was almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better and submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and was fat and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine."—MRS. HAYWARD SOWERBY, Cary, Maine.



If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Every woman ought to have Lydia E. Pinkham's 80-Page Text Book. It is not a book for general distribution as it is to be strictly confidential, it is free, and only obtainable by mail. Write for it today. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

THE FAMILY CUPBOARD

A Story of High Society Life in New York

Adapted from the Dramatic Success by Owen Davis

THE KING OF DIAMONDS

BY LOUIS TRACY

A THRILLING STORY OF A MODERN MONTE CRISTO

You Can Begin This Great Story Today by Reading This First

The story opens in the home of Charles Nelson, a wealthy New York broker, who has just returned from a visit to Europe. He finds his daughter Emily and her friend Sarah Harding in a state of excitement over the latest escapade of Mrs. Harding's daughter Alice, who has run away with Jack Mayland, a young artist. Mrs. Harding is overcome with grief and shame, but Emily and Sarah console her by telling her that Alice will soon return. Nelson confesses to Emily that the charges against Kenyon, which led to his arrest, were false, and that he had been forced to flee the country to avoid a prison sentence. Emily tells her father that Kenyon has been released and is now in New York. Nelson determines to find him and help him. Mrs. Harding receives a letter from Alice announcing that she and Jack have been married and are living in Greenwich Village. Mrs. Harding goes to Alice's home and finds her in a wretched condition. Alice tells her mother that she has left Jack because of his drinking habits. Mrs. Harding takes Alice to her home and decides to keep her daughter's marriage a secret. Nelson confesses to Emily that the charges against Kenyon

Fact and Comment on Finance and Business

By S. C. FORBES, Business Editor.

The world is slaying its bosses—regal, political, financial, industrial.

The boss of yesterday sought to drive. The boss of tomorrow will lead. Slaves and cattle can be driven. Free men cannot.

Have you ever stopped to think how bossism has been and is being dethroned?

Let us glance over the world.

The oldest, steepiest nation of them all, China, not so long ago rose up against her dynastic bosses and is now setting up a government as democratic as our own.

Russia, also asleep politically for ages, is seeking to clip the wings of her autocratic boss, the brainless, spineless Czar, whose ukases are no longer allowed to go unchallenged by civilization when they overstep the bounds of humanity.

Turkey, another ancient nation, discarded a cruel boss a few years ago and is now struggling to set up a better order.

France made short shrift of her titled bosses fully a hundred years ago and now gets along very well without them.

Germany has, perhaps, the strongest, ablest boss of all, one whose rule has brought peace and progress, for which reason he still sits in unchallenged power. Although there, too, the spirit of democracy and equality is abroad, and political changes aimed at taking cognizance of that spirit are brewing.

The British King is today less of a boss than the newest member of the House of Commons, yet even in slow-moving Britain people are asking how long the gilded trappings of royalty will be tolerated. And already, you know, the hereditary, autocratic House of Lords has been shorn of its powers, and a Commoner, chosen by the people, is guiding the nation's destinies.

• • •

Portugal recently rid herself of her sovereign and is now governing herself democratically, while Spain seems also to be rousing herself from the monarchic form of rulership.

In India evolution is all toward the abolition of bossism and the establishment of democratic laws.

Among British colonies bosses are not in favor. In Australia and New Zealand the working men have controlled the government; in South Africa the Boers are in the saddle, in Canada there is none of the bowing-the-knee-to-bossism spirit.

Mexico drove out one dictator, and is determined not to submit to the tyrannies of another.

And in this country, how the bosses have fallen!

The "Old Guard" who ruled at Washington with a rod of iron have been virtually overthrown into oblivion. Other political bosses have also met their Waterloo one by one. Then the "Money Power" is in process of disintegration faster than the public realize. Another Morgan is now an impossibility. There is today no such thing in the financial world—none to whom all the others will pay homage. And the breaking up of gigantic railroad and industrial combinations calculated to exercise unreasonable sway over the public interest—is this not likewise one phase of the revolt against bossism? So, too, is the uprising against labor leaders disposed to defy law and order.

The public don't want their thinking done for them. They prefer to think for themselves. They rebel against being driven. They want to be the architects of their own lives. They are determined to make "equality" more than a shibboleth.

Investors, like voters, are manifesting an unprecedented measure of self-assertion. They insist upon judging issues for themselves. The Wall Street broker can no longer shout "Buy!" and have an inrush of customers. The investor enters the market only when he feels so disposed. This, too, is symptomatic of the new order.

Bossism is still entrenched in many directions. But its days are numbered. The sand in the hour-glass is almost spent.

"Sentiment Good, but Confidence Lacking"

By JULIUS KRUTTSCHNITT.

SENTIMENT is good, but everywhere there is evidently lack of confidence.

There is not much new business going on.

You could see this from the train windows.

In busy times on the Southern Pacific and Central Pacific you see many trains on side tracks loaded with structural material and lumber. On my trip lumber cars were conspicuous for their absence.

KRUTTSCHNITT ENCOURAGED BY BETTER FEELING

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the Southern Pacific Company, on returning yesterday from a trip of inspection covering more than 10,000 miles of road, declared that the feeling toward railroads is now more hopeful than he has ever known it. But there is not booming.

Universally the spirit of the people who are using the railroads is more friendly and more co-operative than I have ever known it to be," he said. "A good deal of the execration of railroads will stop when people learn to read railroad reports of earnings, see evidences that the public is being well treated, and of receiving just as good service as it is possible to give with the earnings now at the command of the railroads."

The people, he remarked, have waked up and are now helping the carriers to prevent rioting stock

Mr. Kruttschnitt said the Southern Pacific is not undertaking any new construction.

"People don't seem to want securities of the railroads," said Mr. Kruttschnitt, "and won't come forward with the money, and interest on new funds is increasing right along."

General condition of business on the Southern Pacific lines is good. Southern Pacific is still feeling the results of the failure of the orange crop last year, but the coming orange crop and alfalfa crops are in good shape with indications for a prosperous year, he said.

Nothing has been done or is pending in the disposition of the Central Pacific since the California Commission refused to approve the dissolution plan," Mr. Kruttschnitt added.

Mr. Kruttschnitt said that on Mexico half the Southern Pacific line is in operation and that trains are being run as far south as Hermosillo, the capital of Sonora.

Purchase and

LATEST FROM TODAY'S STOCK MARKETS

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor.

Stocks weakened after a firm opening and the occasional movement which marked the first hour was not succeeded by a rally. After an interim of dullness prices began to slump. By afternoon in Boston Boston & Maine had lost its three-point advance and New Haven part of its morning gain. United Fruit was off 1, Boston Elevated ½, Alaska Gold ⅝, Butte & Superior ½, Calumet & Arizona ¾, Greeley 1, Osceola 1, Quincy 1, North Butte 1, and United Shoe ¼. Gains included New Haven ⅝, Mohawk ½ and Island Creek ½.

Declines in New York, where business was almost wholly of a professional character, included Canadian Pacific 1¾, Missouri Pacific ⅝, Northern Pacific ⅝, Southern Pacific ⅝, Union Pacific 1¼, Erie ⅝, Reading 1¼, Lehigh Valley 1¼, American Can ⅝, Steel ½, Amalgamated ¾, American Smelting 1, St. Paul ⅝, Mexican Petroleum 3 and Chesapeake & Ohio ⅝.

A sent on the New York Stock Exchange has been sold for $40,000. The last preceding sale was at $41,000.

Opened Stronger, Then Weakened.

Stocks were stronger at the opening, but weakened later. Reports that the coast of Mexico is to be fortified and news in general regarding the situation south of the Rio Grande, caused uneasiness, but a stronger reason for depression in financial circles was the fear that electing results of Tuesday indicate the determination of the Wilson administration to conduct a campaign against some great industrial combines next year. It is said there is little probability of a caucus being called to force Democratic Senators to support President Wilson's ideas on currency legislation, and that the matter will be discussed at tomorrow's cabinet meeting. Reports from abroad was not reassuring. It was called Heatter newspapers from London that "stock markets are breaking down," and that "nothing like the present situation has been felt since the Argentine crisis in 1890."

In Boston at the start the story from Hartford that former Governor Bulkeley will vacate the appeal filed in the Massachusetts Supreme Court against the public service commission's approval of the New Haven's $67,000,000 debenture bond issue had a depressing effect. New Haven and Boston & Maine made good gains during the first hour. The slump in London warrants did not cause any shift of consequence in copper issues. Business in mines was so dull that price changes were negligible for awhile.

Stocks Receded in New York.

By 11 o'clock prices ranged lower in New York, most advances having disappeared. Some issues were higher, however, and Mexican Petroleum had recovered most of its early loss. Trading was exceedingly dull, with a brief flurry of activity only about 50,000 shares and sales of 2 to 5000 more than 100,000 whole forenoon. The tone was heavy. Call money loaned attracted considerable at- New York. It has been scarce yesterday however, and in the use of this stock for a premium of 1.32. Expected known scarcity caused covering at the opening, and New Haven was in demand within a brief time. Call, Gt. West. ——, 12%, 12%, 12%, Mex. Nat. ——, 10¼, 10¼, 10¼, Mex. Financial News in Brief.

Copper warrants slumped badly in London at the opening call, spot declining £1 5s. and futures 17s. 6d. At the close spot has weakened 12s. 6d. and futures 5s. more. Sales were 900 tons of spot and 3,600 of futures. It is said that while large agencies are still asking 16¾ cents a pound for copper in London, deal are now quoting as low as 16 3-10. The October statement of the Copper Producers' Association will be published to-morrow.

The Bank of England's minimum discount rate remained unchanged today at 5 per cent and the proportion of its reserve to liabilities is now 53.40 per cent, against 54.50 per cent. last week and compares with a decline from 59.20 per cent. a year ago. The corresponding week last year.

The Iron Age says that in October coke-iron production was 2,540,261 gross tons, or 82,133 tons a day, against 2,505,927 tons in September, a thirty-day month, or 83,531 tons a day. There was a net loss of twelve furnaces last month and the 244 furnaces in blast November 1 had a capacity of 78,858 tons a day against 83,370 tons a day for 256 furnaces on October 1.

The October average for electrolytic copper, as figured by the Engineering and Mining Journal, was 16.337 cents a pound, the highest with one exception, this year. It compared with 16.328 cents in September and 17.314 cents a year ago. Average Lake copper was 15.875, nominal, at 16.913 cents, against 17.061 cents last year.

A number of steel mills are preparing to curtail operations because of the last month's orders, and reports from the big companies will reflect this within six months in decreased earnings.

The plate plants in this country are now running on an average of only about 60 per cent. of capacity.

Fact and Comment on Finance and Business

By B. C. FORBES, Business Editor.

The world is slaying its bosses—regal, political, financial, industrial.

The boss of yesterday sought to drive. The boss of tomorrow will lead. Slaves and cattle can be driven. Free men cannot.

* * *

Have you ever stopped to think how bossism has been and is being dethroned?

* * *

Let us glance over the world.

* * *

The oldest, sleepiest nation of them all, China, not so long ago rose up against her dynastic bosses and is now setting up a government as democratic as our own.

* * *

Russia, also asleep politically for ages, is seeking to clip the wings of her autocratic boss, the brainless, spineless Czar, whose ukases are no longer allowed to go unchallenged by civilization when they overstep the bounds of humanity.

* * *

Turkey, another ancient nation, discarded a cruel boss a few years ago and is now struggling to set up a better order.

* * *

France made short shrift of her titled bosses fully a hundred years ago and now gets along very well without them.

* * *

Germany has, perhaps, the strongest, ablest boss of all, one whose rule has brought peace and prosperity, for which reason he still sits in unchallenged power, although there is the spirit of democracy and equality is abroad, and political changes aimed at taking cognizance of that spirit are growing.

* * *

The British King is today less of a boss than the newest member of the House of Commons, yet even in slow-moving Britain people are asking how long the gilded trappings of royalty will be tolerated. And already, you know, the hereditary, autocratic House of Lords has been shorn of its power, and a Commoner, chosen by the people, is guiding the nation's destinies.

* * *

Portugal recently rid herself of her sovereign and is now governing herself democratically, while Spain and Italy are moving away from the monarchic form of rulership.

Among British colonies bosses are not in favor. In Australia and New Zealand the bosses are the people, controlled the government; in South Africa the Boers are in the saddle; in Canada the people are the bowing-the-knee-to-bossism spirit.

* * *

Mexico drove out one dictator, and is determined not to submit to the tyrannies of another.

* * *

And in this country, how the bosses have fallen!

The "Old Guard" who ruled at Washington with a rod of iron have been routed and driven into oblivion. Other political bosses have met their Waterloo one by one. Then the "Money Power" is in process of disintegration faster than the public realizes. Another Morgan is now an impossibility. There is today no s in the financial world—none to whom all the others will pay homage. And the breaking up of gigantic railroad and industrial combinations calculated to exercise unreasonable sway over the public interest—is this not likewise one phase of the revolt against bossism? So, too, is the uprising against labor leaders disposed to defy law and order.

The public don't want their thinking done for them. They prefer to think for themselves. They rebel against being driven. They want to be the architects of their own lives. They are determined to make "equality" more than a shibboleth.

* * *

Investors, like voters, are manifesting an unprecedented measure of self-assertion. They insist upon judging issues for themselves. The Wall Street broker can no longer shout "Buy!" and have an inrush of customers. The investor enters the market only when he feels so disposed. This, too, is symptomatic of the new order.

* * *

Bossism is still entrenched in many directions. But its days are numbered. The sand in the hour-glass is almost spent.

KRUTTSCHNITT ENCOURAGED BY BETTER FEELING

"Sentiment Good, but Confidence Lacking"

By JULIUS KRUTTSCHNITT.

SENTIMENT is good, but everywhere there is evidently lack of confidence.

There is not much new business going on.

You could see this from the train windows.

In busy times on the Southern Pacific and Central Pacific you see many trains on side tracks loaded with structural material and lumber. On my trip lumber cars were conspicuous for their absence.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the Southern Pacific Company, on returning yesterday from a trip of inspection covering a distance of 10,000 miles of road, declared that the feeling toward railroads is now more friendly than he has ever known it. But business is not booming.

"Universally the spirit of the people who are using the railroads is more friendly and more co-operative than I have ever known it to be," he said. "A good deal of the criticism of railroads will stop when people learn to read railroad reports of earnings, see evidences that the public is being well treated, and is receiving just as good service as it is possible to give with the earnings now at the command of the railroads."

Mr. Kruttschnitt said the Southern Pacific is not undertaking any new construction.

"People don't seem to want securities of the railroads," said Mr. Kruttschnitt, "and won't come forward with the money and interest on new funds is increasing all along."

General condition of business on the Southern Pacific lines, he said, Southern California is still feeling the results of the failure of the orange crop last year, but the coming orange crop and other crops are in good shape with indications of a prosperous year, he said.

"Nothing has been done concerning the disposition of the Central Pacific since the California Commission refused to approve the dissolution plan," Mr. Kruttschnitt added.

Mr. Kruttschnitt said that in Mexico half the Southern Pacific line is in operation, and that trains are being run as far south as Hermosillo, the capital of Sonora.

ON OR SELL their individual estates, estates, where there is evidently lack of confidence. There is not much new business going on. You could see this from the train windows. In busy times on the Southern Pacific and Central Pacific you see many trains on side tracks loaded with structural material and lumber. On my trip lumber cars were conspicuous for their absence.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the Southern Pacific Company, on returning yesterday from a trip of inspection covering a distance of 10,000 miles of road, declared that the feeling toward railroads is now more friendly than he has ever known it. But business is not booming.

"Universally the spirit of the people who are using the railroads is more friendly and more co-operative than I have ever known it to be," he said. "A good deal of the criticism of railroads will stop when people learn to read railroad reports of earnings, see evidences that the public is being well treated, and is receiving just as good service as it is possible to give with the earnings now at the command of the railroads."

Mr. Kruttschnitt said the Southern Pacific is not undertaking any new construction.

"People don't seem to want securities of the railroads," said Mr. Kruttschnitt, "and won't come forward with the money and interest on new funds is increasing all along."

General condition of business on the Southern Pacific lines, he said, Southern California is still feeling the results of the failure of the orange crop last year, but the coming orange crop and other crops are in good shape with indications of a prosperous year, he said.

"Nothing has been done concerning the disposition of the Central Pacific since the California Commission refused to approve the dissolution plan," Mr. Kruttschnitt added.

Mr. Kruttschnitt said that in Mexico half the Southern Pacific line is in operation, and that trains are being run as far south as Hermosillo, the capital of Sonora.

Mitchel's Victory in New York City and the Overturn in the Rest of the Empire State Is a Great Step Towards the Extinction of Bossism

By electing John Purroy Mitchel Mayor of New York by a stunning majority the people of New York have declared their repudiation of "Chief" Murphy and his messenger McCall, of government by contract, government by telephone and all the machinery of public plunder.

The people of New York have won a glorious victory for independence and clean government over servility and corruption.

The people of New York have vindicated government by the people. They have proved the ability of the people to discriminate, at least, to an impressive extent. They have demonstrated the brain, wisdom and courage that are latent in our democracy.

They have emphatically announced that no man shall boss them, that no man shall sit around in the back room of a restaurant with half a dozen fawning confederates and dictate to them whom they shall choose to manage their business.

With remarkable discrimination they have rebuked the handing over of any more of the great assets of their business—the business of their great metropolis—to interests which decade after decade have plundered and despised them, whether these interests be the Interborough conspiracy or any other of the corporate rings that have fattened at the public treasury.

THE HANDWRITING IS ON THE WALL. THE DOOM OF THE BOSS SYSTEM HAS BEEN DECREED.

FOR, the people throughout the State of New York have swept away, as by a cyclone of ballots, the control of the State by the Tammany organization and its evil cubs throughout the State. They have practically WIPED OUT THE CREW WHICH BLOCKED A REAL DIRECT PRIMARY LAW SO FAR AS THEY COULD REACH THEM AT THIS ELECTION. The people have been relentless in their punishment for this offense.

The one law the bosses feared, the law in dread of which they threw the State's business into reckless confusion, in terror of which they treated the great Empire State as if it were a contemptible pocket borough, this law—a direct primary law—has now become a DEMAND OF THE PEOPLE BY THEIR VOTES.

It means death to bossism, and the bosses have known it. How desperately they have fought it will stand forever as a grim page of history.

Great as this victory is as evidenced by the overwhelming majority for Mr. Mitchel in New York city and the overthrow of graft and the reaction throughout the State, it must only be one of many victories. In hewing a path of progress and efficiency, the people have glorious work ahead of them. There have been victories which have been followed by defeats. A repetition of such defeats must be made impossible.

Those in whom the people have put their faith must be faithful. The election of Mr. Mitchel proves that the people appreciate loyalty and do not forget to reward it. The elected trustees for all the people can so conduct affairs as to make any such wholesale defiance of public interests as New York city and State have suffered in the last few years a future impossibility.

LET THERE BE STILL MORE LIGHT! The people are now in a better position to get at the truth of corruption, to learn to the bitter end the methods by which they have been cheated and derided and despoiled than ever before. They can MAKE MURPHY IMPOSSIBLE. They can make any boss like Murphy or any of his infamous predecessors impossible. They are in better position than ever before to complete the work of destroying the centres of public spoliation and of restoring the real power of government to their own hands. LET THERE BE STILL MORE LIGHT!

In the great struggle of humanity upward, no victory is final, no victory is COMPLETE. But this victory, in the Mayoralty and in the Assembly, over bossism, inefficiency and corruption, can be turned to the tremendous advantage of all the people of New York, for their securing of real popular government and for the final extinction of the System of Rascality.

Jewish Societies Thank AMERICAN

FROM PRIDE OF LIDA LODGE, NO. 301, I. O. B. A., OF BOSTON.

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

At a special meeting held by the Pride of Lida Lodge, No. 301, I. O. B. A., called for the purpose of protesting against the atrocious, shameful and groundless accusation against the Jewish people as well as against civilization in general instituted and maintained by the Russian government and with the subsidence of the "Black Hundred" clique as their part in the well-known Beiliss case, it was unanimously voted to record a resolution condemning the time and well published government of Russia with the "Black Hundred."

At said meeting was also witnessed the fairness and the just service the Boston AMERICAN has rendered in this cause to the civilized community in general, and to the Jewish population of America exclusively, and it was unanimously voted to authorize the President and Secretary of said lodge to express in the name of the organization as well as in the name of the Grand Lodge a sincere appreciation and heartful thanks to the Boston AMERICAN.

It is quite a fact proven all through history that the Jewish nation suffered as well as the Jew individually have never neglected to know and realize who their professed enemies are, and neither have they failed to appreciate the work of their just defenders through all the ages.

It is, therefore, with conscientious feeling of appreciation that every collective organization and every well thinking man in the name of humanity and his own responsibility realizes the duty upon such to prove and show that your work in behalf of justice and civilization is approved and appreciated not only by the readers of the Boston AMERICAN, but by all honest and fair-minded people in general.

Trusting that the Boston AMERICAN will proceed in its work and continue to preach for the common justice to all people and to advocate the moral principals of truth, love and justice, and for truer understanding of the facts involved in the Beilis case, we remain,

DAVID SCHUTZ, President.
MORRIS SHANSKY, Secretary.

FROM THE UNIVERSAL ASSOCIATES OF ROXBURY

Editor Boston AMERICAN:

On behalf of the Universal Associates, allow me to thank you for the good work you are doing, in aiding the unfortunate Mendel Beilis to rid himself of that dreadful false accusation. We sincerely trust and hope that the AMERICAN will take such a stand in the future, as it has done in the past.

Very truly yours,
DAVID GREENGLASS, Pres.
AMELIA WEINSTEIN, Rec. Sec'y.

Why Married People Lie to Each Other

They Won't Tolerate the Truth—It Means Quarrels, and They'd Rather Have Peace Even If They Have to Fib to That End.

By DOROTHY DIX

NOT long ago a wealthy Western woman was heavily fined by the customs authorities for falsifying her statement about the value of a dress she had bought in Paris. Upon investigation the collector announced that he was convinced that the reason the lady made a false report of what she paid for the frock was not because she desired to defraud the government, but because she was afraid to tell her husband the truth about what the garment had cost.

About the same time a man in Yonkers appeared at home early one morning with a black eye and the most frightful tale of how he had been waylaid by robbers and almost murdered, and left for dead by the wayside, and of how he had crawled home as soon as he recovered consciousness.

The police immediately began search for the footpads, and as they began to get "warm," as the children say in playing hide and seek, the gentleman confessed that there had been no assault made upon him, but that he had tarried downtown too long and looked too often upon the beer as it foamed, and had fallen against a fence in trying to find his own domicile, and that he had concocted his cute little lie about the assassins because he was afraid to go home and tell his wife the unvarnished truth.

Thus do we see how fear of the partners of our bosoms makes liars of us all.

Probably there is no other place on earth where strict veracity is at as much of a discount as it is in the family circle, where universal experience proves that, however admirable it may be as a theory, it is a boomerang in practice. Probably no man and no woman ever tries telling the exact truth to his wife or her husband, but once. That once is sufficient to point the moral. Let it not be forgotten that the champion liars of history and tradition, Ananias and Sapphira, were a married couple, who had doubtless acquired dexterity in putting across plausible fibs in dealing with each other.

Now, most married people, while recognizing the impossibility of maintaining the character of Truthful James and Veracious Sally, and still keeping up friendly relations, have regretted this necessity. More: They have been troubled in their consciences about the matter, for they were not by nature liars and would gladly have dallied with the truth if they could.

To these unhappy tarradiddlers there is balm in Gilead by the decision that has just been handed down by Judge George L. Phillips, of Cleveland, Ohio, who gives it as his judicial opinion that when a little lie will preserve the domestic calm, the husband should tell it bravely and well, and in a manner to carry conviction.

Indeed, Judge Phillips—a Daniel, a second Daniel, I say, come to judgment—holds that a man is actually reprehensible if he withholds the falsehood from his wife that would have prevented a family squabble. In commenting on the evidence in a divorce case, Judge Phillips opined:

"A little diplomacy, and there would have been no trouble in this family. A wife objects to a husband attending lodge meetings. Why tell her about it? What she doesn't know won't hurt her."

Assuredly not. And it's perfectly wonderful how many astute married people, with a proper respect for their own peace and comfort, have anticipated Judge Phillips' decision, and instead of telling their respective husbands and wives the truth that would raise a row have told the little lie that insured the dove of peace still roosting on the roof pole.

Mr. Smith is perfectly aware that his beloved Maria will deliver a curtain lecture that will be interminable if he tells her that he stayed downtown at night to play poker with some old crony, but she will think that he did no more than his duty if he remained away from his own fireside to toil to make more money for her to spend. Very well, it's a clinch what Mr. Smith is going to tell Maria about why he wasn't home for dinner.

Mrs. Smith knows by experience the storm that will break over her head if she admits that she paid $25 for her new hat. Therefore she sweetly remarks to Mr. Smith, that oh, dear, she's nearly dead; she's just been running all over town trying to find a hat that looked like anything and that wouldn't cost but $12, but, thank goodness, she found one in a shop downtown that looks as if it had come from Boylston street, and she didn't have to pay but $10 for it. Such a bargain!

And Mr. Smith remarks that it looks good to him, and he's glad he's married to a woman who knows the value of money and doesn't fool it away as other women do. And Mrs. Smith kisses him, and has the difference between what she pays for the hat and what she says she paid for the hat charged up on the grocery book, and the butcher book, and deep peace reigns over Europe, Asia, Polynesia, and the Smith family.

Such experiences are not confined to the Smith family. They are daily enacted in every household in the land, and the fault is not with the liar, but with the tyrant that makes the liar. No man but would like to be frank with his wife. No woman but would like to be open and above board with her husband, but the price of veracity is a continual row, and we all prefer peace even if we have to get it by subterfuge.

The truth is, we are all afraid of our husbands and wives, and fear breeds liars. A woman makes her husband lie to her because she won't stand for the truth. A man puts a premium on his wife deceiving him because he won't stand for the truth from her, and so it goes, and the biggest whopper that any man or woman ever tells is when they say to the partners of their bosoms: "I always tell you the truth about everything."

Of course, it's better to fib than to be divorced, but most people have felt that the domestic lie was a degradation, and these will be cheered and comforted by Judge Phillips' decision that such lies are not only admissible, but a conjugal duty.

A SHATTERED IDOL

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

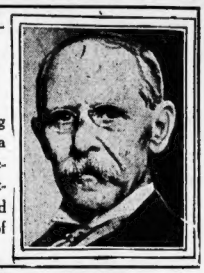
In his arms he carried muscles
Larger than old-fashioned bustles,
And his neck was like a column made of steel;
Not a weld he couldn't dash through,
Not a line he couldn't smash through,
He was such an awe-inspiring mass of veal.

This tremendous football hero
Held all rival teams to zero,
So his comrades worshipped madly at his shrine;
Now that they had broken training
And as long as it was raining,
They were sitting at McSherry's buying wine.

Suddenly there was a shakeup;
Percy said; "Let's smash the place up!
Follow me, boys, and we'll do it, never fear!"
Then the boys, an neatly pattered,
Followed up their idol, shattered,
As he lit upon the car track on his ear.

When you see a gentle waiter
Bringin' you a cold pertater,
Pause and think of all the fights that he has fit;
Banish every thought of fighting
Or you'll find yourself alighting
On the car track where football hero lit.

QUEER OPINION OF SPANISH PEOPLE.



While France Is Seeking Alliance with Them a French Authoress Declares Their Indomitable Character Is Based on a Fearlessness of Bloodshed.

By GARRETT P. SERVISS.

ONE of the questions which most profoundly interest all thoughtful Frenchmen at the present moment is that of an alliance between their country and Spain. The fear of Germany hangs over the French republic as that of the Gauls, hovering in dark clouds behind the Alps, hung over ancient Rome.

Amid all the talk of peace, which is everywhere so popular today, there is no mistaking the fact that in France every heart is heavy with thoughts of war. If it were a war of aggression and conquest that hovered in the near future, the hearts of the French people would be not heavy, but jubilant. But the approach of a defensive war invariably saddens the spirits of those who expect to be its victims.

The simple fact, which one sees repeated again and again in the French newspapers, that the population of Germany is increasing at the rate of a million a year, while that of France, is stationary, if not declining, is sufficient to awaken the gloomiest forebodings.

It is a spectacle that moves the sympathy of a foreign visitor to see this great people, with their glorious past irradiating them like the splendor of a sunset, compelled to meet the menace of their mighty foe, with his constantly swelling armies, by the almost pitiful device of forcing their sons to spend an additional year of their youth in camps, because there are no crowds of successors coming up from the cradle to take their places.

Cry of French Minister Is Pathetic in the Extreme

Can anything be more pathetic than this cry—one may call it so—from the lips of M. Ribot, former Minister of Foreign Affairs: "All the nations must be interested in seeing France remain great and strong, for France vanquished would mean Europe decapitated and insecurity for all the other peoples." That is a cry of conscious weakness, though not of cowardice, or unworthy fear.

No one conceals the fact that he wishes for an alliance with Spain in order that Spanish armies may aid in the protection of France. The coming war and nothing else is the dominant thought in every Frenchman's mind as he does his best to win friends for his threatened fatherland.

But there is a broader aspect to this subject, which is revealed in a remark of the famous French authoress, Madame Adam. When asked recently her opinion about the proposed Spanish alliance, she replied that such an understanding appeared to her desirable in every sense of the word. And then she added some remarkable sentences:

"Heroic is Spain throughout her whole history," said Madame Adam. "Her women personify her heroism, not only in their defense of Saragosse, but in their passion, often founded on courage, for bull fights. In Spain people are not afraid of blood, and that it is which makes the nation indomitable!"

Everybody knows that Madame Adam tells only the plain truth about the indomitable character of the people of Spain. Rome never mastered them as she mastered other races. The rush of the Moors upon them was merely an overwhelming wave which eventually was hurled back again. Napoleon could not trample them into subjection. The disaster that she encountered a few years ago, when she braved the power of the United States, has been nobly redeemed, because it only threw her back upon herself.

But is it true that not only a tolerance, but a passion, for bloodshed is, as Madame Adam seems to think, the surest indication of an unconquerable spirit of a people?

We might find historic grounds for such an opinion. When Rome at the same time ruled and defied the world her people delighted in nothing so much as scenes of bloodshed. Not only bulls and horses, but elephants, lions, tigers, and even armed men, had to surrender their lives by thousands in the arenas in order to gratify the thirst of the Roman populace for blood. In Rome, too, and still more decidedly than in Spain, "people were not afraid of blood."

Wishes to See Spain and France Shoulder to Shoulder

Yet Rome fell when other peoples as fearless of blood as her own began to descend in hordes upon her. IT WAS THE SPIRIT OF CHRISTIANITY THAT FINALLY SAVED ROME AND ETERNALIZED HER.

Madame Adam is undoubtedly right in wishing to see Spain placed shoulder to shoulder with France at the critical moment, but she might have found a better foundation for her faith in the sturdy virtue of the Spanish people than such as can be based upon their alleged indifference to bloodshed!

The world is doomed to see much fighting yet. Armies are not going to be abolished tomorrow or the next day. Every new invention is instantly seized upon to add to the military power of the nations. The reign of the lawyers is not going immediately to succeed that of the warriors. The judges, with their long robes, their powdered wigs and their heads filled with precedents and legal technicalities, are not on the point of crowding out the generals with their swords, their gold-laced coats and their strings of glittering medals.

War Slowly but Surely Losing Its Former Ferocity

But—war, while semming to render itself more terrible by the aid of science, is slowly losing its teeth and beginning to tremble in every limb, like those superannuated giants that Bunyan saw in his vision inhabiting the cave at the termination of the Valley of the Shadow of Death.

It is stumbling under the weight it carries. By and by it will pass away, and then, since human nature cannot change at the bottom as rapidly as it changes on the surface, it will behoove the world to see that it does not take upon its shoulders, in the form of a "Mr. Legality," a more insufferable burden than it bore in the person of the "Apollyon" of war.

THE SINGER'S HEART

By LILIAN LAUFERTY

A LITTLE bird in my heart
Once sang a merry lay,
A tune of joy, of mirth, of love,
A song that chimed its way
Straight from my heart with lilting rune.
Nor cared if any marked the tune.

That little bird in my heart
Once sang a sweet refrain.
And then I marked that those who heard
Passed by my way again.
Still from my heart that sweet bird's rune—
I thrilled because men marked the tune.

The little bird in my heart
I sold for gold and pelf;
But lo! that minstrel sings no more—
For 'twas my very self.
Now no man marks the harsh-stressed rune;
It was the bird who made the tune!
